The investment strategy would revolve around reducing the tracking error to the least possible through regular rebalancing of the portfolio, taking into account the change in weights of stocks in the Index as well as the incremental collections/redemptions in the Scheme. A part of the funds may be invested in debt and money market instruments, to meet liquidity requirements. Since the Scheme is index fund, it will only invest in securities constituting the Underlying Index. However, due to corporate action in companies comprising the index, the Scheme may be allocated/allotted securities which are not part of the index. Such holdings would be rebalanced within 7 Calendar Days from the date of allotment / listing of such securities. As part of the Fund Management process, the Scheme may use derivative instruments such as index futures and options, or any other derivative instruments that are permissible or may be permissible in future under applicable regulations. However, trading in derivatives by the Scheme shall be for restricted purposes as permitted by the regulations. Subject to the Regulations and the applicable guidelines, the Scheme may engage in Stock Lending activities. The Scheme may also invest in the debt schemes of Mutual Funds in terms of the prevailing SEBI (MF) Regulations. Though every endeavor will be made to achieve the objective of the Scheme, the AMC/Sponsor/ Trustee do not guarantee that the investment objective of the Scheme will be achieved. | Tracking Error: The Scheme, in general, will hold all the securities that constitute the Underlying Index in the same proportion as the index. Expectation is that, over a period of time, the tracking error of the Scheme relative to the performance of the Underlying Index will be relatively low. The AMC would monitor the tracking error of the Scheme on an ongoing basis and would seek to minimize tracking error to the maximum extent possible.                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                   |
| Under normal market circumstances, such tracking error is not expected to exceed by [2.00%] p.a. (based on daily rolling returns for last 12 months). However, in case of events like, Dividend issuance by constituent members, rights issuance by constituent members, and market volatility during rebalancing of the portfolio following the rebalancing of the underlying basket, etc. or in abnormal market circumstances, the tracking error may exceed the above mentioned limits.                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                   |

| Tracking Error: The Scheme, in general, will hold all the securities that constitute the Underlying Index in the same proportion as the index. Expectation is that, over a period of time, the tracking error of the Scheme relative to the performance of the Underlying Index will be relatively low. The AMC would monitor the tracking error of the Scheme on an ongoing basis and would seek to minimize tracking error to the maximum extent possible.                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                |
| Under normal market circumstances, such tracking error is not expected to exceed by [2.00%] p.a. (based on daily rolling returns for last 12 months). However, in case of events like, Dividend issuance by constituent members, rights issuance by constituent members, and market volatility during rebalancing of the portfolio following the rebalancing of the underlying basket, etc. or in abnormal market circumstances, the tracking error may exceed the above mentioned limits.                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                |

The investment strategy would revolve around reducing the tracking error to the least possible through regular rebalancing of the portfolio, taking into account the change in weights of stocks in the Index as well as the incremental collections/redemptions in the Scheme. A part of the funds may be invested in debt and money market instruments, to meet liquidity requirements.Since the Scheme is index fund, it will only invest in securities constituting the Underlying Index. However, due to corporate action in companies comprising the index, the Scheme may be allocated/allotted securities which are not part of the index. Such holdings would be rebalanced within 7 Calendar Days from the date of allotment/ listing of such securities.As part of the Fund Management process, the Scheme may use derivative instruments such as index futures and options, or any other derivative instruments that are permissible or may be permissible in future under applicable regulations. However, trading in derivatives by the Scheme shall be for restricted purposes as permitted by the regulations.For detailed derivative strategies, please refer to SAI.Subject to the Regulations and the applicable guidelines, the Scheme may engage in Stock Lending activities. |                                   | The Scheme, in general, will hold all the securities that constitute the Underlying Index in the same proportion as the index. Expectation is that, over a period of time, the tracking error of the Scheme relative to the performance of the Underlying Index will be relatively low. The AMC would monitor the tracking error of the Scheme on an ongoing basis and would seek to minimize tracking error to the maximum extent possible.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                   |
|                                   | The AMC would monitor the tracking error of the Scheme on an ongoing basis and would seek to minimize tracking error to the maximum extent possible. Under normal market circumstances, such tracking error is not expected to exceed by [2.00%] p.a. (based on daily rolling returns for last 12 months). However, in case of events like, Dividend issuance by constituent members, rights issuance by constituent members, and market volatility during rebalancing of the portfolio following the rebalancing of the underlying basket, etc. or in abnormal market circumstances, the tracking error may exceed the above mentioned limits.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                   |
| Investment Strategy        | HDFC Nifty India Digital Index Fund will be managed passively with investments in stocks comprising the Underlying Index subject to tracking error. The investment strategy would revolve around reducing the tracking error to the least possible through regular rebalancing of the portfolio, taking into account the change in weights of stocks in the Index as well as the incremental collections/redemptions in the Scheme. A part of the funds may be invested in debt and money market instruments, to meet liquidity requirements.Since the Scheme is index fund, it will only invest in securities constituting the Underlying Index. However, due to corporate action in companies comprising the index, the Scheme may be allocated/allotted securities which are not part of the index. Such holdings would be rebalanced within 7 Calendar Days from the date of allotment/ listing of such securities.As part of the Fund Management process, the Scheme may use derivative instruments such as index futures and options, or any other derivative instruments that are permissible or may be permissible in future under applicable regulations. However, trading in derivatives by the Scheme shall be for restricted purposes as permitted by the regulations.For detailed derivative strategies, please refer to SAI.Subject to the Regulations and the applicable guidelines, the Scheme may engage in Stock Lending activities. The Scheme may also invest in the debt schemes of Mutual Funds in terms of the prevailing SEBI (MF) Regulations.Though every endeavor will be made to achieve the objective of the Scheme, the AMC/Sponsor/ Trustee do not guarantee that the investment objective of the Scheme will be achieved. No guaranteed returns are being offered under the Scheme. |                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                   |

| The Scheme, in general, will hold all the securities that constitute the Underlying Index in the same proportion as the index. Expectation is that, over a period of time, the tracking error of the Scheme relative to the performance of the Underlying Index will be relatively low. The AMC would monitor the tracking error of the Scheme on an ongoing basis and would seek to minimize tracking error to the maximum extent possible.                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                   |
| Under normal market circumstances, such tracking error is not expected to exceed by [2.00%] p.a. (based on daily rolling returns for last 12 months). However, in case of events like, Dividend issuance by constituent members, rights issuance by constituent members, and market volatility during rebalancing of the portfolio following the rebalancing of the underlying basket, etc. or in abnormal market circumstances, the tracking error may exceed the above mentioned limits. |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                   |

The investment strategy would revolve around reducing the tracking error to the least possible through regular rebalancing of the portfolio, taking into account the change in weights of stocks in the Index as well as the incremental collections/redemptions in the Scheme. A part of the funds may be invested in debt and money market instruments, to meet liquidity requirements. Since the Scheme is index fund, it will only invest in securities constituting the Underlying Index. However, due to corporate action in companies comprising the index, the Scheme may be allocated/allotted securities which are not part of the index. Such holdings would be rebalanced within 7 Calendar Days from the date of allotment / listing of such securities. As part of the Fund Management process, the Scheme may use derivative instruments such as index futures and options, or any other derivative instruments that are permissible or may be permissible in future under applicable regulations. However, trading in derivatives by the Scheme shall be for restricted purposes as permitted by the regulations. For detailed derivative strategies, please refer to SAI. Subject to the Regulations and the applicable guidelines, the Scheme may engage in Stock Lending activities. The Scheme may also invest in the debt schemes of Mutual Funds in terms of the prevailing SEBI (MF) Regulations. Though every endeavor will be made to achieve the objective of the Scheme, the AMC/Sponsor/ Trustee do not guarantee that the investment objective of the Scheme will be achieved. Further, any transactions undertaken in the portfolio of Index Schemes to meet the redemption and subscription obligations shall be done ensuring that post such transactions replication of the portfolio with the index is maintained at all points of time. In the event of involuntary corporate action, the scheme shall dispose the security not forming part of the underlying index within 7 calendar days from the date of allotment/ listing. Tracking Error: The Scheme, in general, will hold all the securities that constitute the Underlying Index in the same proportion as the index. Expectation is that, over a period of time, the tracking error of the Scheme relative to the performance of the Underlying Index will be relatively low. The AMC would monitor the tracking error of the Scheme on an ongoing basis and would seek to minimize tracking error to the maximum extent possible. Under normal market circumstances, such tracking error is not expected to exceed by [2.00%] p.a. (based on daily rolling returns for last 12 months). However, in case of events like, Dividend issuance by constituent members, rights issuance by constituent members, and market volatility during rebalancing of the portfolio following the rebalancing of the underlying basket, etc. or in abnormal market circumstances, the tracking error may exceed the above mentioned limits.                                                                                                    |                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                               |

The investment strategy would revolve around reducing the tracking error to the least possible through regular rebalancing of the portfolio, taking into account the change in weights of stocks in the Index as well as the incremental collections/redemptions in the Scheme. A part of the funds may be invested in debt and money market instruments, to meet liquidity requirements. Since the Scheme is index fund, it will only invest in securities constituting the Underlying Index. However, due to corporate action in companies comprising the index, the Scheme may be allocated/allotted securities which are not part of the index. Such holdings would be rebalanced within 7 Calendar Days from the date of allotment/ listing of such securities. As part of the Fund Management process, the Scheme may use derivative instruments such as index futures and options, or any other derivative instruments that are permissible or may be permissible in future under applicable regulations. | Investment Strategy | The Scheme shall predominantly invest in companies that are adopting “innovative” themes and strategies. Companies that endeavour to introduce new products, services processes, business models – or improve existing ones – to create value, solve problems, and maintain a competitive edge, are the ones that will be a part of the theme of innovation. For identifying companies that are adopting innovative strategies, the Fund Manager aims to use the framework of bucketing the innovative strategies broadly under 3 categories – Product / Service Innovation, Process Innovation, Business Model Innovation: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Product or Service Innovation <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Radical Innovation occurs when companies understand changing consumer values or behavior, and accordingly develop new products or services, thus paving way for new markets and creating unique solutions for customers. Such new products or services could be created by bypassing intermediaries or harnessing technology</li> <li>- Disruptive Innovation occurs when companies introduce products / services that are very unique and superior. Such products / services could use technologies that could potentially challenge the traditional existing approaches companies</li> <li>- Incremental Innovation: For existing lines of product / services, companies make improvements. Such improvements are done using existing technology, and are directed at the existing market. When investing in companies that are innovating incrementally, the Fund Manager will endeavour to identify companies whose incremental innovation is higher than the indexed average.</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Process Innovation</li> </ul> Process Innovation, which often forms the core competency of a company, involves the activities and operations that produce a company's primary products / services. Here, the innovation requires a notable change from “business as usual”, enabling the company to use unique capabilities, function efficiently, adapt quickly, creating cost / quality advantages. Such kind of an innovation may include patented or proprietary approaches that may disrupt existing business models and may look to gain market share over the next few fiscal years                                                                                                                                               |                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                    |

1) Risk Profile of the Schemes

Scheme Specific Risk Factors

Mutual Fund Units involve investment risks including the possible loss of principal. Please read the Scheme Information Document of the respective Scheme carefully for details on risk factors before investment. Scheme specific Risk Factors include but are not limited to the following:

Risk Factors specific to HDFC Large and Mid Cap Fund

The Scheme's portfolio shall comprise equity holdings of large cap (minimum 35% and maximum 65% of the portfolio) and mid cap stocks (minimum 35% and maximum 65% of the portfolio). The Scheme may also invest upto 30% in small cap stocks. While Small & Mid-cap stocks gives one an opportunity to go beyond the usual large blue chip stocks and present possible higher capital appreciation, it is important to note that Small & Midcap stocks can be riskier and more volatile on a relative basis. Therefore, the risk levels of investing in small & mid cap stocks are more than investing in stocks of large well established companies. It should be noted that over a period of time, small-cap, mid-cap and large-cap stocks have demonstrated different levels of volatility and investment returns. And it is important to note that generally, no one class consistently outperforms the others.

Risk Factors specific to HDFC Mid-Cap Opportunities Fund and HDFC Small Cap Fund

While Small & Mid-cap stocks gives one an opportunity to go beyond the usual large blue chip stocks and present possible higher capital appreciation, it is important to note that Small & Mid-cap stocks can be riskier and more volatile on a relative basis. Therefore, the risk levels of investing in Small & Mid-cap stocks are more than investing in stocks of large well-established companies. It should be noted that over a period of time, Small, Mid and Large cap stocks have demonstrated different levels of volatility and investment returns. And it is important to note that generally, no one class consistently outperforms the others.

Risk Factors specific to HDFC Capital Builder Value Fund

The Scheme invests at least 50% of equity portfolio in stocks whose trailing Price to Earnings ratio (P/E) and/or trailing Price to Book ratio (P/B) is lower than the corresponding median of the benchmark. It is important to note that such an approach is not proven to outperform the benchmark.

Risk Factors specific to HDFC Focused 30 Fund

The Scheme seeks to generate long term capital appreciation/income by investing in equity & equity related instruments of up to 30 companies. This concentrated nature of the portfolio may result in higher levels of volatility vis-à-vis other diversified equity oriented schemes. Since the scheme will invest in not more than 30 stocks, it is also expected to have higher market liquidity risk compared to a regular diversified equity scheme.

Risk Factors specific to HDFC Infrastructure Fund

- The investments under the Scheme are predominantly oriented towards equity/ equity related instruments of Companies engaged in the area of growth and development of infrastructure and hence will be affected by risks associated with such companies.
- Given that the Scheme seeks to invest in equity/ equity related instruments of the Companies belonging to the infrastructure sector and that the investment concentration may be high in certain companies belonging to the said sector, the volatility and/or performance of the said sector and/or of the scrips belonging to this sector can have a material adverse bearing on the performance of the Scheme.
- Although the Scheme seeks to make investments in equity and equity related instruments of the Infrastructure sector, this scheme will not be a sector specific scheme for the purpose of monitoring the investment restrictions applicable to the Scheme and hence investments per issuer under the Scheme will not exceed 10% (at the time of investment) of the net assets of the Scheme.
- As the Scheme may hold securities that are not in the NIFTY 500 Index and may invest in limited number of sectors with higher concentration to certain sectors and industries, it may perform differently from the NIFTY 500 Index. Further Scheme's performance may differ from the benchmark index to the extent of the investments held in the debt segment, as per the investment pattern indicated under normal circumstances.

Risk Factors specific to HDFC ELSS Tax Saver

Units of HDFC ELSS Tax saver cannot be assigned/ transferred/ pledged/ redeemed/ switched out until completion of three years from the date of allotment of the respective Units.

Risk Factors specific to HDFC Arbitrage Fund

The primary objective of the Fund Manager is to identify investment opportunities and to exploit price discrepancies in various markets. Identification and exploitation of the strategies to be pursued by the Fund Manager involve uncertainty. No assurance can be given that Fund Manager will be able to locate investment opportunities or to correctly exploit price discrepancies in the capital markets. Reduction in mis-pricing opportunities between the cash market and Future and Options market may lead to lower level of activity affecting the returns. As the Scheme proposes to execute arbitrage transactions in various markets simultaneously, this may result in high portfolio turnover and, consequently, high transaction cost.

There may be instances, where the price spread between cash and derivative market is insufficient to meet the cost of carry. In such situations, the fund manager due to lack of opportunities in the derivative market may not be able to outperform liquid / money market funds.

Though the constituent stocks of most indices are typically liquid, liquidity differs across stock. Due to heterogeneity in liquidity in the capital market segment, trades on this segment do not get implemented instantly. This often makes arbitrage expensive, risky and difficult to implement.

Risk Factors specific to HDFC Multi-Asset Fund (Related to Gold related Instruments)

Risk factors associated with investment in gold related instruments

- The Scheme shall invest in HDFC Gold ETF (Gold ETFs) and Gold related instruments (including derivatives, Sovereign Gold Bonds etc as and when SEBI/RBI permits).
- The value (price) of gold may fluctuate for several reasons and all such fluctuations will impact the NAV of Units under the Scheme. The factors that may effect the price of gold, among other things, include demand and supply for gold in India and in the global market, Indian and Foreign exchange rates, Interest rates, Inflation trends, market risks including trading risks in gold as commodity, legal restrictions on the movement/trade of gold that may be imposed by RBI,

Government of India or countries that supply or purchase gold to / from India, trends and restrictions on import / export of gold in and out of India, etc.

- Governments, central banks and related institutions world wide, own a significant portion of the aggregate world gold holdings. If one or more of these institutions decides to sell in amounts large enough to cause a decline in world gold prices, the price / value of units of the Scheme, to the extent invested in gold, will be adversely affected.

Risks associated with investments in Gold ETFs

To the extent the Scheme's assets are invested in Gold ETFs, the risks associated with the underlying Gold ETFs, will also be applicable. Some of them are explained below:

- Currency Risk: The formula for determining NAV of the Units of Gold ETFs is based on the imported (landed) value of gold. Landed value of gold held by Gold ETFs is computed by multiplying international market price by US dollar value. The value of gold or NAV, therefore will depend upon the conversion value of US dollar into Indian rupee and attracts all the risks attached to such conversion.
  - Regulatory Risk: Any changes in trading regulations by the stock exchange(s) or SEBI may affect the ability of Authorised Participant of Gold ETFs to arbitrage resulting into wider premium/ discount to NAV. Any changes in the regulations relating to import and export of gold or gold jewellery (including customs duty, sales tax and any such other statutory levies) may affect the ability of the underlying Gold ETFs to buy / sell gold against the purchase and redemption requests received.
  - Units of Gold ETFs may be acquired from the stock exchanges where the price quoted may be at variance with the underlying NAV, resulting in higher acquisition costs.
  - Taxation: Conversion of underlying physical gold into units of Gold ETFs may attract capital gain tax depending on acquisition cost and holding period. Moreover, converting units of the underlying scheme to Gold may also attract Wealth tax. Furthermore, Gold is subject to indirect tax not restricted to the following: Sales Tax, Octroi, VAT, Stamp Duty, and Custom Duty. Hence, any change in the rates of taxation/applicable taxes would affect the valuation of the Scheme.
  - Redemption Risk
    - The units issued under the Scheme, when predominantly invested in Gold ETFs, will derive liquidity from the underlying Gold ETF having creation / redemption process in creation unit size of predefined quantity of physical gold (e.g. 1 kg). At times prevailing market conditions may affect the ability of the underlying Gold ETFs to sell gold against the redemption request received.
    - Furthermore, the endeavor would always be to get cash on redemptions from the underlying Gold ETFs. However, in case the underlying Gold ETF is unable to sell for any reason, and delivers physical gold, there could be delay in payment of redemption proceeds pending such realization.
    - Additionally, the Scheme will derive liquidity from trading units of underlying Gold ETFs on the exchange(s) in the secondary market which may be inherently restricted by trading volumes, settlement periods and transfer procedures. As there is no active secondary market for Gold ETFs, the processing of redemption requests at times may be delayed. In the event of an inordinately large number of redemption requests, or re-structuring of the Scheme's investment portfolio, the processing of redemption requests may be delayed.
    - Gold ETFs would ordinarily repurchase Units in Creation Unit Size. Thus Unit holding less than Creation Unit Size can only be sold through the secondary market on the Exchange.
- Further, the price received upon the redemption of Units of Gold ETFs may be less than the value of the gold represented by them.

Market Trading Risks

- Although units of Gold ETFs are listed on recognised stock exchange(s), there can be no assurance that an active secondary market will be developed or be maintained.
- Trading in units of Gold ETFs on the Exchange may be halted because of market conditions or for reasons that in view of the Exchange Authorities or SEBI, trading in units of Gold ETFs is not advisable. In addition, trading in units of Gold ETFs is subject to trading halts caused by extraordinary market volatility and pursuant to the Exchange and SEBI 'circuit filter' rules. There can be no assurance that the requirements of the Exchange necessary to maintain the listing of units of Gold ETFs will continue to be met or will remain unchanged.
- Any changes in trading regulations by the Stock Exchange(s) or SEBI may affect the ability of market maker to arbitrage resulting into wider premium/ discount to NAV.
- The units of Gold ETFs may trade above or below their NAV. The NAV of Gold ETFs will fluctuate with changes in the market value of that scheme's holdings. The trading prices of units of Gold ETFs will fluctuate in accordance with changes in their NAV as well as market supply and demand for the units of Gold ETF.
- Gold ETFs may provide for the creation and redemption of units in Creation Unit Size directly with the concerned Mutual Fund and therefore, it is expected that large discounts or premiums to the NAV of the units of Gold ETFs will not sustain due to arbitrage opportunity available.

Risk Factors specific to HDFC Dividend Yield Fund

The Scheme seeks to invest in equity/ equity related instruments of the dividend yielding stocks (which have paid dividend (or done a buyback) in atleast one of the three preceding financial years). Thus, the performance of the Scheme would inter-alia depend on the ability of these companies to sustain dividends (or buybacks) in future. Further, the volatility and/or adverse performance of these companies may have a material adverse bearing on the performance of the Scheme.

Risk Factors specific to HDFC Housing Opportunities Fund

The Scheme invests predominantly in equity / equity related instruments of entities engaged in and/or expected to benefit from growth in housing and its allied business activities. The Scheme is thematic in nature, hence will be affected by the risks associated with the housing and its allied sectors. Owing to high concentration risk for thematic scheme, risk of capital loss is highest. There is an element of unpredictable market cycles that could run for extended periods. Loss of value due to obsolescence, or regulatory changes coupled with structural rigidity of the Scheme can lead to permanent loss of capital. Thus, investing in a thematic fund could involve potentially greater volatility and risk.

Risk Factors specific to HDFC Gold ETF Fund of Fund

- The Scheme shall invest predominantly in HDFC Gold ETF Fund of Fund (HGETF - the underlying scheme). Hence the Scheme's performance shall primarily depend upon the performance of HGETF. Any change in the investment policies or the fundamental attributes of the underlying scheme could affect the performance of the Scheme.
- All risks associated with the underlying scheme, including performance of underlying physical gold, asset class risk, passive investment risk, indirect taxation risk, etc., will therefore be applicable to this Scheme. Investors who intend to invest in the Scheme are required to and deemed to have understood the risk factors of the underlying scheme.
- The Portfolio disclosure of the Scheme will be limited to providing the particulars of the underlying scheme where the Scheme has invested and will not include the investments made by the underlying scheme.
- The value (price) of gold may fluctuate for several reasons and all such fluctuations will result in changes in the NAV of Units under the Scheme. The factors that may effect the price of gold, among other things, include demand and supply for gold in India and in the global market, Indian and Foreign exchange rates, Interest rates, Inflation trends, market risks including trading risks in gold as commodity, legal restrictions on the movement/trade of gold that may be imposed by RBI, Government of India or countries that supply or purchase gold to/from India, trends and restrictions on import/export of gold in and out of India, etc.
- The Scheme assets are predominantly invested in HGETF and valued at the market price of the said units on the principal exchange. The same may be at a variance to the NAV of the underlying scheme, due to market expectations, demand / supply of the HGETF units, prevailing market conditions, etc. To that extent the performance of Scheme shall be at variance with that of the underlying scheme.
- The changes in asset allocation may result in higher transaction costs.
- When subscriptions received are not adequate enough to meet the minimum investment criteria for transacting directly with the Fund, the units of the underlying scheme may be acquired from the stock exchanges where the price quoted may be at variance with the underlying NAV, which could result in higher acquisition costs. Alternatively, the subscriptions may be deployed in Money market instruments within the limits specified under the Asset allocation pattern, which will have a different return profile compared to gold returns profile.

Alternatively the units of the underlying scheme may be acquired from the stock exchanges where the price quoted may be at variance with the underlying NAV, resulting in a higher acquisition costs.

- Taxation: Repurchase of units of the underlying scheme or sale of units of the underlying scheme on the Stock Exchange may attract short or long term capital gain tax depending upon the acquisition cost and holding period of the Units. Moreover, converting units of the underlying scheme to Gold may also attract Wealth tax. Furthermore, Gold is subject to indirect tax not restricted to Sales Tax, Octroi, VAT, Stamp Duty, and Custom Duty. Hence, any change in the rates of taxation / applicable taxes would affect the valuation of the Scheme.
- Redemption Risk: The units issued under the Scheme will derive liquidity primarily from the underlying scheme having creation / redemption process in creation unit size of predefined quantity of physical gold (currently 1 kg). At times prevailing market conditions may affect the ability of the underlying scheme to sell gold against the redemption request received.

Furthermore, the endeavor would always be to get cash on redemptions from the underlying scheme. However, in case the underlying scheme is unable to sell for any reason, and delivers physical gold, there could be delay in payment of redemption proceeds pending such realization.

Additionally, the Scheme will derive liquidity from trading units of underlying scheme on the exchange(s) in the secondary market which may be inherently restricted by trading volumes, settlement periods and transfer procedures. As there is no active secondary market developed or maintained by the underlying scheme, the processing of redemption requests at times may be delayed.

In the event of an inordinately large number of redemption requests, or re-structuring of the Scheme's investment portfolio, the processing of redemption requests may be delayed.

Risk factors associated with HGETF

- Market Risk: The value of the Units of HGETF relates directly to the value of the gold held by HGETF and fluctuations in the price of gold could adversely affect investment value of the Units of HGETF. The factors that may effect the price of gold, inter alia, include economic and political developments, changes in interest rates and perceived trends in bullion prices, exchange rates, inflation trends, market movements, etc.
- Currency Risk: The formula for determining NAV of the Units of HGETF is based on the imported (landed) value of gold. HGETF landed value of gold is computed by multiplying international market price by US dollar value. The value of gold or NAV, therefore will depend upon the conversion value of US dollar into Indian rupee and attracts all the risks attached to such conversion.
- Counter party Risk: There is no Exchange for physical gold in India. HGETF may have to buy or sell gold from the open market, which may lead to counter party risks for the scheme for trading and settlement.
- Asset Class Risk: The returns from physical Gold in which HGETF invests may underperform returns from the securities or other asset classes.
- Physical gold: There is a risk that part or all of HGETF's gold could be lost, damaged or stolen. Access to HGETF's gold could also be restricted by natural events or human actions. Any of these actions may have adverse impact on the operations of HGETF and consequently on investment / redemption in Units of HGETF.
- Liquidity Risk: HGETF has to sell gold only to bullion bankers/traders who are authorized to buy gold. Though, there are adequate numbers of players (commercial or bullion bankers) to whom HGETF can sell gold, HGETF may have to resort to distress sale of gold if there is no or low demand for gold to meet its cash needs of redemption or expenses.
- Regulatory Risk: Any changes in trading regulations by the stock exchange(s) or SEBI may affect the ability of Authorised Participant of HGETF to arbitrage resulting into wider premium/ discount to NAV. Any changes in the regulations relating to import and export of gold or gold jewellery (including customs duty, sales tax and any such other statutory levies) may affect the ability of HGETF to buy/ sell gold against the purchase and redemption requests received.

- Passive Investments: HGETF is not actively managed. The performance of HGETF may be affected by a general price decline in the Gold prices. HGETF invests in the physical Gold regardless of their investment merit. The AMC does not attempt to take defensive positions in declining markets.
  - Indirect taxation: For the valuation of gold by HGETF, indirect taxes like customs duty, VAT, etc. would also be considered. Hence, any change in the rates of indirect taxation would affect the valuation of HGETF.
  - Operational Risks: Gold Exchange Traded Funds (GETFs) are relatively new products and their value could decrease if unanticipated operational or trading problems arise. HDFC Gold ETF, an open ended Exchange Traded Fund, is therefore subject to operational risks.
- In addition, investors should be aware that there is no assurance that gold will maintain its long-term value in terms of purchasing power. In the event that the price of gold declines, the value of investment in Units of HGETF is expected to decline proportionately.
- Redemption Risk: Though this is an open-ended scheme, HGETF would ordinarily repurchase Units in Creation Unit Size. Thus Unit holding less than Creation Unit Size can only be sold through the secondary market on the Exchange. Further, the price received upon the redemption of Units of HGETF may be less than the value of the gold represented by them. If on any day the requisite price as specified under the Regulations or the currency exchange rate is not available due to holiday(s) etc., then the immediately previous day's prices / rates shall be applied for the purpose of calculating the value of the underlying commodity. Hence the NAV so computed may vary from the price of the underlying commodity in the domestic market.

Risk associated with Lending of physical Gold

- The physical gold lending activity by HGETF will have the inherent probability of collateral value drastically falling in time of strong downward market trends resulting in inadequate value of collateral. It is also possible that the borrowing party and/or the approved intermediary may suddenly suffer severe business setback and become unable to honor its commitments. This along with a simultaneous fall in value of collateral would render potential loss to HGETF. Also the risk could be in the form of non-availability of ready physical gold for sale, during the period physical gold is lent. Physical Gold would be lent if permitted by the concerned regulatory authorities in India.

Market Trading Risks

- Although units of HGETF are listed on the Exchange, there can be no assurance that an active secondary market will be developed or be maintained.
- Trading in units of HGETF on the Exchange may be halted because of market conditions or for reasons that in view of the Exchange Authorities or SEBI, trading in units of HGETF is not advisable. In addition, trading in units of HGETF is subject to trading halts caused by extraordinary market volatility and pursuant to the Exchange and SEBI 'circuit filter rules'. There can be no assurance that the requirements of the Exchange necessary to maintain the listing of units of HGETF will continue to be met or will remain unchanged.
- Any changes in trading regulations by the Stock Exchange(s) or SEBI may affect the ability of market maker to arbitrage resulting into wider premium/ discount to NAV.
- The units of HGETF may trade above or below their NAV. The NAV of HGETF will fluctuate with changes in the market value of scheme's holdings. The trading prices of units of HGETF will fluctuate in accordance with changes in their NAV as well as market supply and demand for the units of HGETF.
- The Trustee, in general interest of the Unit holders of HGETF and keeping in view of the unforeseen circumstances/ unusual market conditions, may limit the total number of units, which can be redeemed on any Business Day.
- Governments, central banks and related institutions worldwide, own a significant portion of the aggregate world gold holdings. If one or more of these institutions decides to sell in amounts large enough to cause a decline in world gold prices, the price of units of HGETF will be adversely affected.
- HGETF may provide for the creation and redemption of units in Creation Unit Size directly with the Fund and therefore, it is expected that large discounts or premiums to the NAV of the units of HGETF will not sustain due to arbitrage opportunity available.
- Conversion of underlying physical gold into the units of HGETF may attract capital gain tax depending on acquisition cost and holding period.

Risks related to investments in Silver / Underlying Scheme

- The Scheme shall invest in HDFC Silver ETF (HSETF) – the underlying scheme. Hence the Scheme's performance shall primarily depend upon the performance of HSETF. Any change in the investment policies or the fundamental attributes of the underlying scheme could affect the scheme/performance of the Scheme.
- Investments by HSETF are subject to availability of Silver. If favorable investment opportunities do not exist or opportunities have notably diminished, HSETF may suspend accepting fresh subscriptions. This may also affect the acceptance of subscription by the Scheme.
- All risks associated with the underlying scheme, including performance of underlying physical silver, asset class risk, passive investment risk, indirect taxation risk, etc., will therefore be applicable to this Scheme. Investors who intend to invest in the Scheme are required to and deemed to have understood the risk factors of the underlying scheme.
- The Portfolio disclosure of the Scheme will be limited to providing the particulars of the underlying scheme where the Scheme has invested and will not include the investments made by the underlying scheme.
- The value (price) of silver may fluctuate for several reasons and all such fluctuations will impact the NAV of Units under the Scheme. The factors that may effect the price of silver, among other things, include demand and supply for silver in India and in the global market, Indian and Foreign exchange rates, Interest rates, Inflation trends, market risks including trading risks in silver as commodity, legal restrictions on the movement/trade of silver that may be imposed by RBI, Government of India or countries that supply or purchase silver to/from India, trends and restrictions on import/export of Silver in and out of India, etc.
- The Scheme assets are invested in HSETF and valued at the market price of the said units on The National Stock Exchange of India Limited (NSE). The same may be at a variance to the NAV of the underlying scheme, due to market expectations, demand/supply of the HSETF units, prevailing market conditions, etc. To that extent the performance of Scheme shall be at variance with that of the underlying scheme.

- The changes in asset allocation may result in higher transaction costs.
- The Scheme will subscribe according to the value equivalent to unit creation size as applicable for the underlying scheme. When subscriptions received are not adequate enough to invest in creation unit size, the subscriptions may be deployed in Money market instruments within the limits specified under the Asset allocation pattern, which will have a different return profile compared to silver returns profile.

Alternatively the units of the underlying scheme may be acquired from the stock exchanges where the price quoted may be at variance with the underlying NAV, resulting in a higher acquisition costs.

- Taxation: Repurchase of units of the underlying scheme or sale of units of the underlying scheme on the Stock Exchange may attract short or long term capital gain tax depending upon the acquisition cost and holding period of the Units. Moreover, converting units of the underlying scheme to Silver may also attract Wealth tax. Furthermore, Silver is subject to indirect tax not restricted to the following: Sales Tax, Octroi, VAT, Stamp Duty, and Custom Duty. Hence, any change in the rates of taxation/applicable taxes would affect the valuation of the Scheme.

Redemption Risk:

The units issued under the Scheme will derive liquidity primarily from the underlying scheme having creation/ redemption process in creation unit size of predefined quantity of physical silver (currently 30 kg). At times prevailing market conditions may affect the ability of the underlying scheme to sell silver against the redemption request received.

Furthermore, the endeavor would always be to get cash on redemptions from the underlying scheme. However, in case the underlying scheme is unable to sell for any reason, and delivers physical silver, there could be delay in payment of redemption proceeds pending such realization.

Additionally, the Scheme will derive liquidity from trading units of underlying scheme on the exchange(s) in the secondary market which may be inherently restricted by trading volumes, settlement periods and transfer procedures. As there is no active secondary market developed or maintained by the underlying scheme, the processing of redemption requests at times may be delayed.

In the event of an inordinately large number of redemption requests, or re-structuring of the Scheme's investment portfolio, the processing of redemption requests may be delayed.

o Right to Limit Redemptions

- The Trustee, in the interest of the Unit holders of the Scheme offered in this Scheme Information Document and keeping in view the unforeseen circumstances/unusual market conditions, may limit the total number of Units, which can be redeemed on any Business Day depending on the ability of the Scheme to sell units of the underlying scheme and / or underlying scheme able to liquidate silver against the redemption request submitted by the Unit holders of the Scheme due to prevailing market conditions.
- In view of the above, the Trustee has the right, in its sole discretion, to limit redemptions (including suspending redemptions) under certain circumstances, as described under 'Right to restrict redemption and/or suspend redemption of the units' in Section 'Restrictions, if any, on the right to freely retain or dispose of Units being offered'.

Risk factors associated with HSETF

Risk factors associated with investing in Silver and Silver related instruments

- Market Risk: The value of the Units relates directly to the value of the Silver held by the Scheme and fluctuations in the price of Silver could adversely affect investment value of the Units. The factors that may affect the price of Silver, inter-alia, include economic and political developments, changes in interest rates and perceived trends in bullion prices, exchange rates, inflation trends, market movements, etc.
  - Currency Risk: The formula for determining NAV of the Units is based on the imported (landed) value of Silver. The landed value of Silver is computed by multiplying international market price by US dollar value. The value of Silver or NAV, therefore will depend upon the conversion value of US dollar into Indian rupee and attracts all the risks attached to such conversion.
  - Counter party Risk: There is no Exchange for physical Silver in India. The Scheme may have to buy or sell Silver from the open market, which may lead to counter party risks for the Scheme for trading and settlement.
  - Asset Class Risk: The returns from physical Silver in which the Scheme invests may underperform returns from other securities or asset classes.
  - Physical Silver: There is a risk that part or all of the Scheme's Silver could be lost, damaged or stolen. Access to the Scheme's Silver could also be restricted by natural events or human actions. Any of these actions may have adverse impact on the operations of the Scheme and consequently on investment/ redemption in Units.
  - Liquidity Risk: The Scheme may retain certain investments in cash or cash equivalents for its day-to-day liquidity requirements. The Scheme has to sell Silver only to bullion bankers / traders who are authorized to buy Silver. Though, there are adequate numbers of players (commercial or bullion bankers) to whom the Scheme can sell Silver, the Scheme may have to resort to distress sale of Silver if there is no or low demand for Silver to meet its cash needs of redemption or expenses.
- The Trustee, in general interest of the Unit holders of the Scheme offered under this Scheme Information Document and keeping in view of the unforeseen circumstances / unusual market conditions, may limit the total number of Units, which can be redeemed on any Business Day.
- Regulatory Risk: Any changes in trading regulations by the stock exchange(s) or SEBI may affect the ability of Authorised Participant / Market Makers to arbitrage resulting into wider premium / discount to NAV. Any changes in the regulations relating to import and export of Silver or Silver jewellery (including customs duty, sales tax and any such other statutory levies) may affect the ability of the Scheme to buy / sell Silver against the purchase and redemption requests received.
  - Passive Investments: The Scheme is not actively managed. The performance of the Scheme may be affected by a general price decline in the Silver prices. The Scheme invests in the physical Silver regardless of their investment merit. The AMC does not attempt to take defensive positions in declining markets.

- Indirect taxation: For the valuation of Silver by the Scheme, indirect taxes like customs duty, VAT, etc. would also be considered. Hence, any change in the rates of indirect taxation / applicable taxes would affect the valuation of the Scheme.

- Operational Risk: Silver Exchange Traded Funds (SETFs) are relatively new products and their value could decrease if unanticipated operational or trading problems arise. HDFC Silver ETF, an open ended Exchange Traded Fund, is therefore subject to operational risks.

In addition, investors should be aware that there is no assurance that Silver will maintain its long-term value in terms of purchasing power. In the event that the price of Silver declines, the value of investment in Units is expected to decline proportionately.

- Redemption Risk: Though this is an open-ended scheme, the Scheme would ordinarily repurchase Units in Creation Unit Size. Thus, Unit holding less than Creation Unit Size can only be sold through the secondary market on the Exchange. Further, the price received upon the redemption of Units of the Scheme may be less than the value of the Silver represented by them.

A day on which valuation on London Bullion Market Association (LBMA) is not available shall not be a Business day and hence NAV for the said day shall not be available to the Investors.

- HDFC Silver ETF (HSETF) is a passively managed fund that shall be investing substantial portion of its assets in physical Silver and tracking its performance to the price of Silver. Therefore, irrespective of decline / rise in prices of physical Silver, HSETF shall remain invested in Silver and being a passively managed fund, no active calls based on outlook of Silver prices will be taken by the Fund.
- Investments by the Scheme are subject to availability of Silver. If favorable investment opportunities do not exist or opportunities have notably diminished, the scheme may suspend accepting fresh subscriptions.
- Performance of the Scheme may be affected by political, social and economic developments, which may include changes in government policies, diplomatic conditions, taxation and other policies.
- NAV of the Scheme is dependent on valuation of silver. Silver has to be valued based on the formula prescribed by SEBI. NAV so computed may vary from the price of silver in the domestic market.

Custody risk

There is a risk that part or all of the physical silver belonging to the Scheme could be lost, damaged or stolen. In order to ensure safety, the said silver will be stored with custodian in its vaults. In order to mitigate the risks associated with handling, storing and safekeeping of physical silver necessary insurance covers are taken by custodians.

Tracking Error

The tracking error i.e. the annualised standard deviation of the difference in daily returns between physical silver and the NAV of Silver ETF based on past one year rolling over data.

In case of unavoidable circumstances in the nature of force majeure which are beyond the control of the AMCs, the tracking error may exceed 2%, for which approval of Board of AMC and Trustees shall be taken and the same shall prominently be disclosed on the website of the AMC.

Along with the disclosure of tracking error, the scheme shall also disclose the tracking difference i.e. the difference of returns between physical silver and the Silver ETF, on the website of the AMC on monthly basis for tenures 1 year, 3 year, 5 year, 10 year and since the date of allotment of units.

Tracking error could be the result of a variety of factors including but not limited to:

- Delay in the purchase or sale of silver due to
  - Illiquidity of silver,
  - Delay in realisation of sale proceeds,
  - Creating a lot size to buy the required amount of silver
- The Scheme may buy or sell the silver at different points of time during the trading session at the then prevailing prices which may not correspond to its closing prices.
- The potential for trades to fail, which may result in the Scheme not having acquired silver at a price necessary to track the benchmark price.
- The holding of a cash position and accrued income prior to distribution of income and payment of accrued expenses.
- Disinvestments to meet redemptions, recurring expenses etc.
- Execution of large buy / sell orders
- Transaction cost (including taxes and insurance premium) and recurring expenses
- Realisation of Unit holders' funds

Tracking error due to movement in prices of physical silver will impact the performance of HSETF. However, the Scheme will endeavor to keep tracking error as low as possible by:

- Use of silver related derivative instruments
- Rebalancing of the portfolio.
- Setting off of incremental subscriptions against redemptions.
- Risk associated with Lending of physical Silver - The physical Silver lending activity by Scheme will have the inherent probability of collateral value drastically falling in time of strong downward market trends resulting in inadequate value of collateral. It is also possible that the borrowing party and / or the approved intermediary may suddenly suffer severe business setback and become unable to honor its commitments. This along with a simultaneous fall in value of collateral would render potential loss to the Scheme. Also the risk could be in the form of non-availability of ready physical Silver for sale, during the period physical Silver is lent. Physical Silver would be lent if permitted by the concerned regulatory authorities in India.
- Market Trading Risks
- Although Units of Scheme described in this Scheme Information Document are listed / to be listed on the Exchange, there can be no assurance that an active secondary market will be developed or be maintained.

Information common to Schemes (as applicable) (Contd.)

- Trading in Units of the Scheme on the Exchange may be halted because of market conditions or for reasons that in view of the Exchange Authorities or SEBI, trading in Units of the Scheme is not advisable. In addition, trading in Units of the Scheme is subject to trading halts caused by extraordinary market volatility and pursuant to the Exchange and SEBI 'circuit filter' rules. There can be no assurance that the requirements of the Exchange necessary to maintain the listing of Units of the Scheme will continue to be met or will remain unchanged.
- Any changes in trading regulations by the Stock Exchange(s) or SEBI may affect the ability of market maker to arbitrage resulting into wider premium/ discount to NAV.
- The Units of the Scheme may trade above or below their NAV. The NAV of the Scheme will fluctuate with changes in the market value of Scheme's holdings. The trading prices of Units of the Scheme will fluctuate in accordance with changes in their NAV as well as market supply and demand for the Units of the Scheme.
- The Units will be issued only in demat form through depositories. The records of the depository are final with respect to the number of Units available to the credit of Unit holder. Settlement of trades, repurchase of Units by the Mutual Fund during liquidity window depends upon the confirmations to be received from depository(ies) on which the Mutual Fund has no control.
- Governments, central banks and related institutions worldwide, own a significant portion of the aggregate world Silver holdings. If one or more of these institutions decides to sell in amounts large enough to cause a decline in world Silver prices, the price of Units of the Scheme will be adversely affected.
- The Scheme provides for the creation and redemption of Units in Creation Unit Size directly with the Fund and therefore, it is expected that large discounts or premiums to the NAV of the Units of the Scheme will not sustain due to arbitrage opportunity available.
- Conversion of underlying physical Silver into the Units of the Scheme may attract capital gain tax depending on acquisition cost and holding period.
- e) Redemptions by HMAAFOF from the Underlying Schemes would be subject to applicable exit loads, which may impact performance of the Scheme.
- f) The processing of redemption requests within 3 Working Days of the Redemption date will be subject to the ability of the Scheme to liquidate units of the underlying Scheme(s). The payment of redemption proceeds under the Scheme will be subject to receipt of redemption proceeds from the underlying Scheme(s).
- g) Switch-out from an Underlying Scheme and Switch-in to another Underlying Scheme will be subject to the provisions of applicability of NAV as also the pay-out and pay-in cycles applicable to redemption / purchase under the relevant schemes. In times of extreme volatility, this may have impact on the NAV of HMAAFOF, particularly at the time of portfolio rebalancing. Purchase of units in underlying schemes will attract applicable stamp duty.
- h) A Fund Manager managing any one of the Fund of Funds schemes may also be the Fund Manager for any underlying schemes.

Risk factors related to HDFC Developed World Equity Passive FOF (HDWEPFOF)

(i) Scheme Specific Risk factors:

The specific risk factors include, but are not limited to the following:

- Investors will bear the recurring expenses of the Scheme in addition to the expenses of the Underlying Schemes. Thus, the Scheme returns may be lower than the returns investors may obtain by directly investing in the Underlying Schemes. Further, expenses charged being dependent on the structure and weightage of the Underlying Schemes, may lead to non-uniform charging of expenses over a period of time. Portfolio rebalancing may result in higher transaction costs.
- While it would be the endeavour of the Fund Manager of the Scheme to invest in the Underlying Schemes in a manner, which will seek to track the returns of MSCI World Index, the benchmark Index of the Scheme, the performance of the Underlying Schemes may vary which may lead to the returns of the Scheme being adversely impacted.
- Further, the Scheme's tracking error may arise due to various reasons such as
  - o Minimum subscription and redemption criteria of Underlying Schemes, expenses to be incurred by the Scheme for the same.
  - o Indian mutual funds are permitted to invest in foreign securities / Overseas ETFs subject to maximum specified limits. Accordingly, the Scheme may not be able to invest upto the desired level in the ETFs and may have to invest in alternate Index Funds.
- Movements in the Net Asset Value (NAV) of the Underlying Schemes will impact the performance of the Scheme. Tracking error of the Underlying Schemes will affect the performance of the Scheme.
- The Scheme's performance may be impacted by exit loads or other redemption charges that may be charged at the time of redemption from the Underlying Schemes.
- Switch-out from an Underlying Scheme and Switch-in to another Underlying Scheme will be subject to the provisions of applicability of NAV as also the pay-out and pay-in cycles applicable to redemption / purchase under the relevant schemes. In times of extreme volatility, this may have impact on the NAV of the Scheme, particularly at the time of portfolio rebalancing.
- Since the Scheme will invest in overseas mutual funds, the net assets, distributions and income of the Scheme may be affected adversely by fluctuations in the value of foreign currencies relative to the Indian Rupee.
- The processing of redemption requests within 5 Working Days of the Redemption date will be subject to the ability of the Scheme to liquidate units of the Underlying Schemes. The payment of redemption proceeds under the Scheme will be subject to receipt of redemption proceeds from the Underlying Schemes.
- The repatriation of investments to India may also be hampered by changes in regulations concerning exchange controls or political circumstances as well as any other restrictions on investment. The Scheme may have to pay applicable taxes on gains from such investment.
- Transactions with Underlying Funds shall be subject to their Business day, cut-off timings, valuation norms, which may be different from those prevailing in India.
- As regards investment in overseas mutual funds, the Net Asset Value (NAV) of the Scheme will be calculated based on the last available NAV of the overseas mutual fund schemes and the prevailing exchange rate on that date.
- Treaty/ Tax Risk: The Scheme relies on the Double Tax Avoidance Agreement (DTAA) between India and Luxembourg/Ireland/other countries for relief from certain Indian taxes. Treaty renegotiation (particularly to introduce a limitation on benefits clause) or future legislative or regulatory changes or other administrative or legal developments, may result in higher taxes and/or lower returns for the Scheme.
- The Portfolio disclosure by the Scheme may be limited to providing the particulars of the Underlying Schemes where the Scheme has invested and may not include the investments made by the Underlying Schemes.
- There exists a possibility that the investment policy and/or attributes of the Underlying Schemes change over time. In such circumstances, the fund manager will seek to continue to remain invested in such Underlying Schemes as long as it does not challenge the investment strategy of the Scheme. Else the fund manager may invest in other overseas mutual fund schemes, with investment policy and/or attributes which are in accordance with the investment strategy of the Scheme.

(ii) Risk Factors related to Underlying Schemes

- The Scheme will primarily invest in Overseas ETFs and/ or Index funds. Accordingly, the risk factors relating to investment in the Underlying Schemes will be relevant such as performance, volatility and liquidity of underlying stocks, money markets/ fixed income instruments, derivative instruments, offshore investments, stock lending, changes in credit rating, trading volumes, settlement periods, price/interest rate risk, basis risk, spread risk, re-investment risk, exchange risks, including the possible loss of capital etc.

Risk factors related to HDFC Income Plus Arbitrage Active FOF (HIPAAFOF)

Risk Factors related to Underlying Schemes

- a) The Scheme will invest primarily in equity-oriented schemes. Hence, scheme specific risk factors of the Underlying Schemes will be applicable. All risks associated with Underlying Schemes, including performance of their underlying stocks, derivative instruments, stock-lending, investments in foreign securities etc., will therefore be applicable in the case of this Scheme. The investors should refer to the Scheme Information Documents and the related addenda for the scheme specific risk factors of the respective Underlying Schemes. Investors who intend to invest in this Scheme are required to and deemed to have understood the risk factors of the Underlying Schemes.
- b) Movements in the Net Asset Value (NAV) of the Underlying Schemes may impact the performance of this Scheme. Any change in the investment policies or fundamental attributes of the Underlying Schemes will affect the performance of this Scheme.
- c) The investors of this Scheme shall bear the recurring expenses of this Scheme in addition to the expenses of the Underlying Schemes (subject to regulatory limits). Hence the investor under this Scheme may receive lower pretax returns than what they may receive if they had invested directly in the Underlying Schemes in the same proportions. Further, expenses charged being dependent on the structure and weightage of the underlying schemes, may lead to non uniform charging of expenses over a period of time.
- d) The Portfolio disclosure of this Scheme will be limited to providing the particulars of the allocation to the Underlying Schemes where this Scheme has invested and will not include the investments made by the Underlying Schemes.
- e) Redemptions by this Scheme from the Underlying Schemes would be subject to applicable exit loads, which may impact performance of this Scheme.
- f) The processing / payment of redemption requests within 10 Business Days of the Redemption date will be subject to the ability of the Scheme to liquidate units of the underlying Scheme(s).
- g) Switch-out from an Underlying Scheme and Switchin to another Underlying Scheme will be subject to the provisions of applicability of NAV as also the payout and pay-in cycles applicable to redemption / purchase under the relevant schemes. In times of extreme volatility, this may have impact on the NAV of this Scheme, particularly at the time of portfolio rebalancing. Purchase of units in underlying schemes will attract applicable stamp duty.
- h) A Fund Manager managing a Fund of Funds scheme may also be the Fund Manager for any underlying schemes.

Risk factors related to HDFC Multi-Asset Active FOF (HMAAFOF)

Risk Factors related to Underlying Schemes

- a) HMAAFOF will invest primarily in a combination of equity oriented, debt oriented and gold ETF schemes. Hence, scheme specific risk factors of the Underlying Schemes will be applicable. All risks associated with Underlying Schemes, including performance of their underlying stocks, derivative instruments, stock-lending, investments in foreign securities etc., will therefore be applicable in the case of HMAAFOF. The investors should refer to the Scheme Information Documents and the related addenda for the scheme specific risk factors of the respective Underlying Schemes. Investors who intend to invest in HMAAFOF are required to and deemed to have understood the risk factors of the Underlying Schemes.
- b) Movements in the Net Asset Value (NAV) of the Underlying Schemes may impact the performance of HMAAFOF. Any change in the investment policies or fundamental attributes of the Underlying Schemes will affect the performance of HMAAFOF.
- c) The investors of HMAAFOF shall bear the recurring expenses of HMAAFOF in addition to the expenses of the Underlying Schemes (subject to regulatory limits). Hence the investor under HMAAFOF may receive lower pre-tax returns than what they may receive if they had invested directly in the Underlying Schemes in the same proportions. Further, expenses charged being dependent on the structure and weightage of the underlying schemes, may lead to non uniform charging of expenses over a period of time.
- d) The Portfolio disclosure of HMAAFOF will be limited to providing the particulars of the allocation to the Underlying Schemes where HMAAFOF has invested and will not include the investments made by the Underlying Schemes.

Information common to Schemes (as applicable) (Contd.)

- Additional information in relation to the Underlying Index performance, characteristics, constituents, sector and country weights, methodology of construction and maintenance, rebalancing dates and other general information is available on the index provider's website <https://www.msci.com/constituents>.
  - Tracking Error Risk: Tracking error is the divergence of the Underlying Schemes from that of their Underlying Index. Tracking error may occur because of differences between the securities held in the Underlying Scheme's portfolio and those included in the Underlying Index, pricing differences (including differences between a security's price at the local market close and the intrinsic value of a security at the time of calculation of the NAV), transaction costs, the Underlying Scheme's holding of cash, differences in timing of the accrual of dividends, changes to the Underlying Index or the need to meet various new or existing regulatory requirements. This risk may be heightened during times of increased market volatility or other unusual market conditions.
  - The Underlying Schemes may invest in a representative selection of securities from the benchmark index (optimized sampling) rather than in all the securities in the Index. Selection is facilitated by a system that takes account of both quantitative factors as well as factors that determine returns. The portfolio may be limited to a representative selection of securities from the benchmark index owing to the fund's own investment restrictions or owing to other legal or statutory restrictions, to costs and expenses incurred by the fund, or to the illiquidity of certain securities.
  - Management Risk: As the Underlying Schemes may not fully replicate their respective Underlying Index, it is subject to the risk that investment strategy may not produce the intended results.
  - Concentration Risk: Each Underlying Scheme may be susceptible to an increased risk of loss to the extent that the investments are concentrated in the securities of a particular issuer or issuers, country, group of countries, region, market, industry, group of industries, sector or asset class.
  - Currency Risk: As the Underlying Schemes will invest in securities which are denominated in foreign currencies, fluctuations in the exchange rates of these foreign currencies may have an impact on the income and value of the Underlying Scheme. Thus, returns to investors are the result of a combination of returns from investments and from movements in exchange rates. Thus, the Indian rupee equivalent of the net assets, distribution and income may be adversely affected by changes in the exchange rates of respective foreign currencies relative to the Indian Rupee.
  - Currency Hedging: An Underlying Scheme may enter into currency exchange transactions and/or use derivatives to seek to protect against fluctuation as a result of changes in currency exchange rates. Although these transactions are intended to minimise the risk of loss due to a decline in the value of the hedged currency, they also limit any potential gain that might be realised should the value of the hedged currency increase. The successful execution of a hedging strategy cannot be assured. Hedging activity at Share Class level may impact negatively on another Share Class.
  - Liquidity Risk: There is a risk that the Underlying Scheme will suffer liquidity issues because of unusual market conditions, an unusually high volume of redemption requests or other reasons. In such cases the Underlying Scheme may not be able to pay redemption proceeds in full or within the time period stated in scheme offer document. Further, in case of liquidity issue, the payment made shall be subject to recovery by the Underlying Scheme, net of expenses, etc. hence possibility of loss of capital cannot be ruled out. Large repurchases in Underlying Schemes might result in them being forced to sell assets at a time and price at which it would normally prefer not to dispose of those assets which may be materially adverse to the Underlying Schemes.
  - Liquidation / winding up / Merger of Overseas Mutual Funds / ETFs:
    - Credit Suisse Index Fund (Lux) may be liquidated in accordance with Luxembourg law if the minimum capital requirement of EUR 1,250,000 is not met or if extraordinary general meeting of share/unit holders with requisite quorum so decides. The net liquidation proceeds of the Subfunds (i.e. Underlying Schemes) shall be distributed pro rata to the share/unit holders of these Underlying Schemes.
    - An Underlying Scheme may be liquidated and shares/units thereunder may be compulsorily redeemed if the shareholders / unit holders decide to or if Board of Directors of the Underlying Scheme pass a resolution, that the scheme is no longer be appropriately managed within the interests of the share / unit holders. The Net Asset Value of the shares / units of the relevant Underlying Scheme will be paid out on the date of the mandatory redemption.
- Two or more Underlying Schemes may merge with each other. An overseas mutual fund and/ or its Underlying Scheme may be merged with another overseas mutual fund and/ or its Underlying Scheme(s) on a domestic or cross-border basis.
- CSIF (IE) MSCI USA Blue UCITS ETF one of the Underlying Schemes, referred to as "this fund") has merged into UBS (Irl) ETF plc – MSCI USA NSL UCITS ETF A-acc USD with effect from August 26, 2024. Investors in the Fund will benefit from economies of scale achieved through the merger. Additionally, UBS AG has a significantly larger distribution network than Credit Suisse, which will provide greater opportunities for the Fund to increase assets and attract new investors and will ultimately improve the potential opportunities for better performance for investors.
- In such scenarios, the realization by the Scheme and consequently by the Unit holders of the Scheme, shall be as mentioned in the relevant Underlying Scheme documents and as per applicable laws.

Risks associated with Passive Investments: (For all index schemes except HDFC BSE 500 Index Fund)

- As the Scheme proposes to invest not less than 95% of the net assets in the securities of the Underlying Index in the same proportion, the Scheme will not be actively managed. Performance of the Underlying Index will have a direct bearing on the performance of the Scheme. The Scheme may be affected by a general decline in the Indian markets relating to its Underlying Index. The Scheme invests in the securities included in its Underlying Index regardless of their investment merit. The AMC does not attempt to individually select stocks or to take defensive positions in declining markets.

Further, it is pertinent to note that there is no element of research recommendations involved before the execution of trades in the Scheme. The decision of the Fund Manager to execute trades including rebalancing required will be purely driven by the inflows and outflows in the Scheme and composition of the Underlying Index.

Risks associated with Passive Investments for HDFC BSE 500 Index Fund

As the Scheme proposes to invest not less than 95% of the net assets in the securities of the Underlying Index in the same proportion, the Scheme will not be actively managed. Performance of the Underlying Index will have a direct bearing on the performance of the Scheme. The Scheme may be affected by a general decline in the Indian markets relating to its Underlying Index. The Scheme invests in the securities included in its Underlying Index regardless of their investment merit. The AMC does not attempt to individually select stocks or to take defensive positions in declining markets.

BSE 500 Index ("Underlying Index") represents top 500 companies wherein HDFC Asset Management Company Limited ("HDFC AMC") is one of the representative Company. As on May 31, 2024, the index weightage of HDFCAMC is 0.23%. The companies forming part of the Underlying Index need to satisfy the eligibility criteria as provided by the index provider. The overall index governance is independently managed by the index provider and HDFC AMC and/or its Sponsor/Trustee Company have no control or influence in any manner whatsoever in this regard. In other words, there is no scope for the Fund Manager of the Scheme for any exercise of discretion on whether to buy, hold or sell a security i.e. the discretion on the composition of any of the representative companies in the Underlying Index as exercised by the index provider would have to be obeyed and mapped in managing the portfolio of the Scheme.

Further, it is pertinent to note that there is no element of research recommendations involved before the execution of trades in the Scheme. The decision of the Fund Manager to execute trades including rebalancing required will be purely driven by the inflows and outflows in the Scheme and composition of the Underlying Index.

Tracking Error Risk (applicable to all Index Schemes)

The Fund Manager would not be able to invest the entire corpus exactly in the same proportion as in the Underlying Index due to certain factors such as the fees and expenses of the Scheme, corporate actions, cash balance, changes to the Underlying Index and regulatory policies which may affect AMC's ability to achieve close correlation with the Underlying Index of the Scheme. The Scheme's returns may therefore deviate from those of its Underlying Index. "Tracking Error" is defined as the standard deviation of the difference in daily returns between the Scheme and the Underlying Index annualized over 1 year period. Tracking Error may arise including but not limited to the following reasons: -

- Expenditure incurred by the Scheme.
- The holding of a cash position and accrued income prior to distribution of income and payment of accrued expenses. The Scheme may not be invested at all times as it may keep a portion of the funds in cash to meet redemptions or for corporate actions.
- Securities trading may halt temporarily due to circuit filters.
- Corporate actions such as debenture or warrant conversion, rights, merger, change in constituents etc.
- Rounding off of quantity of shares in Underlying Index.
- Dividend received from underlying securities.
- Disinvestments by Scheme to meet redemptions, recurring expenses, etc.
- Execution of large buy / sell orders
- Transaction cost (including taxes and insurance premium), recurring expenses and other expenses, such as but not limited to brokerage, custody, trustee and investment management fees
- Realisation of Unit holders' funds
- The Scheme may not be able to acquire or sell the desired number of securities due to conditions prevailing in the securities market, such as, but not restricted to: circuit filters in the securities, liquidity and volatility in security prices.
- The Index reflects the prices of securities at a point in time, which is the price at close of business day on BSE / National Stock Exchange of India Limited (NSE). The Scheme, however, may at times trade these securities at different points in time during the trading session and therefore the prices at which the Plan trade may not be identical to the closing price of each scrip on that day on the BSE / NSE. In addition, the Scheme may opt to trade the same securities on different exchanges due to price or liquidity factors, which may also result in traded prices being at variance, from BSE / NSE closing prices.
- In case of investments in derivatives like index futures, the risk reward would be the same as investments in portfolio of shares representing an index. However, there may be a cost attached to buying an index future. Further, there could be an element of settlement risk, which could be different from the risk in settling physical shares and there is a risk attached to the liquidity and the depth of the index futures market as it is relatively new market.

It will be the endeavor of the fund manager to keep the tracking error as low as possible. Under normal circumstances, such tracking error is not expected to exceed 2% per annum for daily 12 month rolling return. However, in case of corporate action events like, Dividend received from underlying securities, rights issue from underlying securities or market events like circuit filters in the securities and market volatility during rebalancing of the portfolio following the rebalancing of the Underlying Index, etc. or in abnormal market circumstances, the tracking error may exceed the above limits. There can be no assurance or guarantee that the Scheme will achieve any particular level of tracking error relative to performance of the Index.

Stock Liquidity in the event of Circuit Filter (applicable to all Index Schemes)

Liquidity of stocks which are available only in cash segment and not in F&O segment gets adversely impacted in the event of a circuit filter imposed by any of the stock exchanges. This would also impact the subscription and redemption of ETF units, directly done with the AMC and the same will be dealt with in the manner described below. Further, this may result in gain/loss to existing unit holders when finally the purchase / sale of that stock is executed. This would also create tracking error while comparing returns with benchmark.

| Transaction type | Upper circuit                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Lower circuit                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

HDFC Non-cyclical Consumer Fund

The Scheme will invest atleast 80% of its net assets in equity and equity related securities with focus on stocks that represent the non-cyclical consumer theme within the basic industries like Consumer Goods, Consumer Services, Telecom Services, Healthcare, Media, Entertainment, Publication, Textiles sectors and such other industries forming part of the Benchmark Index. The Scheme is thematic in nature, hence will be affected by the risks associated with the non-cyclical consumer theme.

Investing in thematic schemes is based on the premise that the scheme will seek to invest in companies belonging to a specific theme. This will limit the capability of the scheme to invest in other companies/themes. The Scheme will invest in equity and equity related securities of companies engaged in the particular theme and hence concentration risk is expected to be high. Also, as with all equity investing, there is a risk that companies in that theme will not achieve expected earnings results, or that an unexpected change in the market or within the company will occur, both of which may adversely affect investment results.

Owing to higher concentration risk for thematic scheme, risk of capital loss is high. There is an element of unpredictable market cycles that could run for extended periods. Loss of value due to obsolescence, or regulatory changes or theme not panning out as envisaged can lead to permanent loss of capital. Thus, investing in a thematic fund could involve potentially greater volatility and risk.

HDFC Business Cycle Fund

The Scheme will invest atleast 80% of its net assets in equity and equity related securities with focus on stocks that represent the business cycle theme. The Scheme is thematic in nature, hence will be affected by the risks associated with the business cycle theme.

This will limit the capability of the scheme to invest in other companies/themes. The Scheme will invest in equity and equity related securities of companies engaged in the particular theme and hence concentration risk is expected to be high. Also, as with all equity investing, there is a risk that companies in that theme will not achieve expected earnings results, or that an unexpected change in the market or within the company will occur, both of which may adversely affect investment results.

Owing to higher concentration risk for thematic scheme, risk of capital loss is high. There is an element of unpredictable market cycles that could run for extended periods. Thus, investing in a thematic fund could involve potentially greater volatility and risk.

HDFC MNC Fund

The Scheme shall invest predominantly in equity and equity related instruments of companies which can be classified as Multinational Companies (MNCs) and hence will be affected by risks associated with such companies.

Given that, the Scheme seeks to invest in equity/ equity related instruments of certain set of companies, which can be classified as MNCs, the volatility and/or adverse performance of these companies, would have a material adverse bearing on the performance of the Scheme.

Further, the volatility and/or adverse performance of the said sector and/or of the scrips belonging to this sector would have a material adverse bearing on the performance of the Scheme.

Risk Factors specific to HDFC Pharma and Healthcare Fund

Further, the volatility and/or adverse performance of the concerned sectors and/or of the scrips belonging to these sectors would have a material adverse bearing on the performance of the Scheme.

Risk Factors specific to HDFC Innovation Fund

The Scheme will invest at least 80% of its net assets in equity and equity related securities with focus on companies that are adopting innovative themes and strategies. This will limit the capability of the Scheme to invest in other companies / themes.

Since the Scheme is thematic in nature, it will be affected by the risks associated with the theme of innovation. Further, there is a risk that companies that are trying to innovate, might not achieve expected earnings results, or that an unexpected change in the market or within the company will occur, both of which may adversely affect investment results.

Owing to higher concentration risk for thematic scheme coupled with structural rigidity of the Scheme, the risk of capital loss is high. There is an element of unpredictable market cycles that could run for extended periods. Loss of value due to obsolescence, or regulatory changes or theme not panning out as envisaged can lead to permanent loss of capital. Thus, investing in a thematic fund could involve potentially greater volatility and risk.

Risk factors associated with investing in equities and equity related instruments (For all Schemes except HDFC Gold ETF Fund of Fund and HDFC Silver ETF Fund of Fund)

- Equity shares and equity related instruments are volatile and prone to price fluctuations on a daily basis. Investments in equity shares and equity related instruments involve a degree of risk and investors should not invest in the Scheme(s) unless they can afford to take the risks.
- Securities, which are not quoted on the stock exchanges, are inherently illiquid in nature and carry a larger amount of liquidity risk, in comparison to securities that are listed on the exchanges. Investment in such securities may lead to increase in the scheme portfolio risk.

Information common to Schemes (as applicable) (Contd.)

- While securities that are listed on the stock exchange carry lower liquidity risk, the ability to sell these investments is limited by the overall trading volume on the stock exchanges and may lead to the Scheme(s) incurring losses till the security is finally sold.
- Scheme's performance may differ from the benchmark index to the extent of the investments held in the debt segment, as per the investment pattern indicated under normal circumstances.

Risk factors associated with investing in Fixed Income Securities (For all schemes)

- The Net Asset Value (NAV) of the Scheme(s), to the extent invested in Debt and Money Market instruments, will be affected by changes in the general level of interest rates. The NAV of the Scheme(s) is expected to increase from a fall in interest rates while it would be adversely affected by an increase in the level of interest rates.
- Money market instruments, while fairly liquid, lack a well developed secondary market, which may restrict the selling ability of the Scheme(s) and may lead to the Scheme(s) incurring losses till the security is finally sold.
- Investments in money market instruments involve credit risk commensurate with short term rating of the issuers.
- Investment in Debt instruments are subject to varying degree of credit risk or default risk (i.e. the risk of an issuer's inability to meet interest and principal payments on its obligations) or any other issues, which may have their credit ratings downgraded. Changes in financial conditions of an issuer, changes in economic and political conditions in general, or changes in economic and/ or political conditions specific to an issuer, all of which are factors that may have an adverse impact on an issuer's credit quality and security values. This may increase the risk of the portfolio. The Investment Manager will endeavour to manage credit risk through in-house credit analysis.
- Prepayment Risk: Certain fixed income securities give an issuer the right to call back its securities before their maturity date, in periods of declining interest rates. The possibility of such prepayment may force the Scheme to reinvest the proceeds of such investments in securities offering lower yields, resulting in lower interest income for the Scheme.
- Reinvestment Risk: This risk refers to the interest rate levels at which cash flows received from the securities in the Scheme are reinvested. The additional income from reinvestment is the "interest on interest" component. The risk is that the rate at which interim cash flows can be reinvested may be lower than that originally assumed.
- Settlement risk: Different segments of Indian financial markets have different settlement periods and such periods may be extended significantly by unforeseen circumstances. Delays or other problems in settlement of transactions could result in temporary periods when the assets of the Scheme are uninvested and no return is earned thereon. The inability of the Scheme to make intended securities purchases, due to settlement problems, could cause the Scheme to miss certain investment opportunities. Similarly, the inability to sell securities held in the Scheme's portfolio, due to the absence of a well developed and liquid secondary market for debt securities, may result at times in potential losses to the Scheme in the event of a subsequent decline in the value of securities held in the Scheme's portfolio.
- Government securities where a fixed return is offered run price-risk like any other fixed income security. Generally, when interest rates rise, prices of fixed income securities fall and when interest rates drop, the prices increase. The extent of fall or rise in the prices is a function of the existing coupon, days to maturity and the increase or decrease in the level of interest rates. The new level of interest rate is determined by the rates at which government raises new money and/or the price levels at which the market is already dealing in existing securities. The price-risk is not unique to Government Securities. It exists for all fixed income securities. However, Government Securities are unique in the sense that their credit risk generally remains zero. Therefore, their prices are influenced only by movement in interest rates in the financial system.
- The AMC may, considering the overall level of risk of the portfolio, invest in lower rated / unrated securities offering higher yields as well as zero coupon securities that offer attractive yields. This may increase the absolute level of risk of the portfolio.
- As zero coupon securities do not provide periodic interest payments to the holder of the security, these securities are more sensitive to changes in interest rates and are subject to issuer default risk. Therefore, the interest rate risk of zero coupon securities is higher. The AMC may choose to invest in zero coupon securities that offer attractive yields. This may increase the risk of the portfolio. Zero coupon or deep discount bonds are debt obligations that do not entitle the holder to any periodic payment of interest prior to maturity or a specified date when the securities begin paying current interest and therefore, are generally issued and traded at a discount to their face values. The discount depends on the time remaining until maturity or the date when securities begin paying current interest. It also varies depending on the prevailing interest rates, liquidity of the security and the perceived credit risk of the Issuer. The market prices of zero coupon securities are generally more volatile than the market prices of securities that pay interest periodically.
- The Scheme(s) at times may receive large number of redemption requests, leading to an asset-liability mismatch and therefore, requiring the investment manager to make a distress sale of the securities leading to realignment of the portfolio and consequently resulting in investment in lower yield instruments.
- Risks associated with investment in unlisted securities: Except for any security of an associate or group company, the scheme can invest in securities which are not listed on a stock exchange ("unlisted Securities") which in general are subject to greater price fluctuations, less liquidity and greater risk than those which are traded in the open market. Unlisted securities may lack a liquid secondary market and there can be no assurance that the Scheme will realise their investments in unlisted securities at a fair value.
- Investment in unrated instruments may involve a risk of default or decline in market value higher than rated instruments due to adverse economic and issuer-specific developments. Such investments display increased price sensitivity to changing interest rates and to a deteriorating economic environment. The market values for unrated investments tends to be more volatile and such securities tend to be less liquid than rated debt securities.

Risk factors associated with investment in Tri-Party Repo (For all Schemes)

The mutual fund is a member of securities segment and Triparty Repo trade settlement of the Clearing Corporation of India (CCIL). All transactions of the mutual fund in government securities and in Tri-party Repo trades are settled centrally through the infrastructure and settlement systems provided by CCIL; thus reducing the settlement and counterparty risks considerably for transactions in the said segments. The members are required to contribute an amount as communicated by CCIL from time to time to the default fund maintained by CCIL as a part of the default waterfall (a loss mitigating measure of CCIL in case of default by any member in settling transactions routed through CCIL).

As per the waterfall mechanism, after the defaulter's margins and the defaulter's contribution to the default fund have been appropriated, CCIL's contribution is used to meet the losses. Post utilization of CCIL's contribution if there is a residual loss, it is appropriated from the default fund contributions of the non-defaulting members. Thus the scheme is subject to risk of the initial margin and default fund contribution being invoked in the event of failure of any settlement obligations. In addition, the fund contribution is allowed to be used to meet the residual loss in case of default by the other clearing member (the defaulting member).

CCIL shall maintain two separate Default Funds in respect of its Securities Segment, one with a view to meet losses arising out of any default by its members from outright and repo trades and the other for meeting losses arising out of any default by its members from Triparty Repo trades. The mutual fund is exposed to the extent of its contribution to the default fund of CCIL, in the event that the contribution of the mutual fund is called upon to absorb settlement/default losses of another member by CCIL, as a result the scheme may lose an amount equivalent to its contribution to the default fund.

Risk factors associated with Repo in Corporate Debt Securities (For all schemes except index schemes, hybrid, schemes and HDFC Silver ETF FOF)

In repo transactions, also known as a repo or sale repurchase agreement, securities are sold with the seller agreeing to buy them back at later date. The repurchase price should be greater than the original sale price, the difference effectively representing interest. A repo in corporate debt securities is economically similar to a secured loan, with the buyer receiving corporate debt securities as collateral to protect against default. Some of the risks associated with repo in corporate debt are given below:

- Counterparty Risk: Counterparty risk refers to the inability of the seller to meet the obligation to buy back securities at the contracted price on the contracted date. In case of over the counter (OTC) repo trades, the investment manager will endeavour to manage counterparty risk by dealing only with counterparties having strong credit profiles. Also, the counter-party risk is to an extent mitigated by taking collateral equivalent in value to the transaction after knocking off a minimum haircut on the intrinsic value of the collateral. In the event of default by the repo counterparty, the scheme shall have recourse to the corporate debt securities. In case the repo transaction is executed on exchange platform approved by RBI/SEBI, the exchange may also provide settlement guarantee.
- Collateral Risk: Collateral risk arises when the market value of the securities is inadequate to meet the repo obligations. This risk can be partly mitigated by restricting participation in repo transactions only in corporate debt securities which are approved by credit risk team. Additionally, to address the risk related to reduction in market value of corporate debt security held as collateral due to credit rating downgrade, the repo contract can incorporate either an early termination of the repo agreement or call for fresh margin to meet the minimum haircut requirement or call for replacement of security with eligible security. Moreover, the investment manager may apply a higher haircut on the underlying security than required as per RBI/SEBI regulation to adjust for the illiquidity and interest rate risk on the underlying instrument. To mitigate the risk of price reduction due to interest rate changes, the adequacy of the collateral can be monitored on a daily basis by considering the daily market value & applying the prescribed haircut. The investment manager or the exchange can then arrange for additional collateral from the counterparty, within a prespecified period. If the counterparty is not able to top-up either in form of cash / collateral, it would tantamount to early termination of the repo agreement, and the outstanding amount can be recovered by sale of collateral.

Risk factors associated with investing in Non- Convertible Preference Shares (For all schemes except HDFC Housing Opportunities Fund, HDFC ELSS Tax saver, all index and FOF schemes)

- Credit Risk - Credit risk is the risk that an issuer will be unable to meet its obligation of payment of dividend and/ or redemption of principal amount on the due date. Further, for non-cumulative preference shares, issuer also has an option to not pay dividends on preference shares in case of inadequate profits in any year.
- Liquidity Risk - The preference shares generally have limited secondary market liquidity and thus we may be forced to hold the instrument till maturity.
- Unsecured in nature - Preference shares are unsecured in nature and rank lower than secured and unsecured debt in hierarchy of payments in case of liquidation. Thus there is significant risk of capital erosion in case the company goes into liquidation.

Risks associated with Investing in Structured Obligation (SO) & Credit Enhancement (CE) rated securities (For all equity, hybrid schemes and HDFC Income Plus Arbitrage Active FOF):

- The risks factors stated below for the Structured Obligations & Credit Enhancement are in addition to the risk factors associated with debt instruments.
- Credit rating agencies assign CE rating to an instrument based on any identifiable credit enhancement for the debt instrument issued by an issuer. The credit enhancement could be in various forms and could include guarantee, shortfall undertaking, letter of comfort, etc. from another entity. This entity could be either related or non-related to the issuer like a bank, financial institution, etc. Credit enhancement could include additional security in form of pledge of shares listed on stock exchanges, etc. SO transactions are asset backed/ mortgage backed securities, securitized paper backed by hypothecation of car loan receivables, securities backed by trade receivables, credit card receivables etc. Hence, for CE rated instruments evaluation of the credit enhancement provider, as well as the issuer is undertaken to determine the issuer rating. In case of SO rated issuer, the underlying loan pools or securitization, etc. is assessed to arrive at rating for the issuer.
- Liquidity Risk: SO rated securities are often complex structures, with a variety of credit enhancements. Debt securities lack a well-developed secondary market in India, and due to the credit enhanced nature of CE securities as well as structured nature of SO securities, the liquidity in the market for these instruments is adversely affected compared to similar rated debt instruments. Hence, lower liquidity of such instruments, could lead to inability of the scheme to sell such debt instruments and generate liquidity for the scheme or higher impact cost when such instruments are sold.
- Credit Risk: The credit risk of debt instruments which are CE rated is based on the combined strength of the issuer as well as the structure. Hence, any weakness in either the issuer or the structure could have an adverse credit impact on the debt instrument. The weakness in structure could arise due to inability of the investors to enforce the structure due to issues such as legal risk, inability to sell the underlying collateral or enforce guarantee, etc. In case of SO transactions, comingling risk and risk of servicer increases the overall risk for the securitized debt or assets backed transactions. Therefore apart from issuer level credit risk such debt instruments are also susceptible to structure related credit risk.

General Risk factors (For all schemes)

- Trading volumes, settlement periods and transfer procedures may restrict the liquidity of the investments made by the Scheme(s). Different segments of the Indian financial markets have different settlement periods and such periods may be extended significantly by unforeseen circumstances leading to delays in receipt of proceeds from sale of securities. The NAV of the Units of the Scheme(s) can go up or down because of various factors that affect the capital markets in general.
- As the liquidity of the investments made by the Scheme(s) could, at times, be restricted by trading volumes and settlement periods, the time taken by the Mutual Fund for redemption of Units may be significant in the event of an inordinately large number of redemption requests or restructuring of the Scheme(s). In view of the above, the Trustee has the right, in its sole discretion, to limit redemptions (including suspending redemptions) under certain circumstances, as described under 'Right to Restrict Redemption and / or Suspend Redemption of the units' mentioned in SID.
- At times, due to the forces and factors affecting the capital market, the Scheme(s) may not be able to invest in securities falling within its investment objective resulting in holding the monies collected by it in cash or cash equivalent or invest the same in other permissible securities / investments amounting to substantial reduction in the earning capability of the Scheme(s). The Scheme(s) may retain certain investments in cash or cash equivalents for its day-to-day liquidity requirements.
- Securities, which are not quoted on the stock exchanges, are inherently illiquid in nature and carry a larger amount of liquidity risk, in comparison to securities that are listed on the exchanges or offer other exit options to the investor, including a put option. The AMC may choose to invest in permitted unlisted securities that offer attractive returns. This may increase the risk of the portfolio.
- Investment strategy to be adopted by the Scheme(s) may carry the risk of significant variance between the portfolio allocation of the Scheme(s) and the Benchmark particularly over a short to medium term period.
- Performance of the Scheme may be affected by political, social, and economic developments, which may include changes in government policies, diplomatic conditions, and taxation policies.

Risk factors associated with investing in Foreign Securities (For all equity, hybrid schemes and HDFC Developed World Equity Passive FOF)

- Currency Risk:
Moving from Indian Rupee (INR) to any other currency entails currency risk. To the extent that the assets of the Scheme(s) will be invested in securities denominated in foreign currencies, the Indian Rupee equivalent of the net assets, distributions and income may be adversely affected by changes in the value of certain foreign currencies relative to the Indian Rupee.
- Interest Rate Risk:
The pace and movement of interest rate cycles of various countries, though loosely co-related, can differ significantly. Hence by investing in securities of countries other than India, the Scheme(s) stand exposed to their interest rate cycles.
- Credit Risk:
Investment in Foreign Debt Securities are subject to the risk of an issuer's inability to meet interest and principal payments on its obligations and market perception of the creditworthiness of the issuer. This is substantially reduced since the SEBI (MF) Regulations stipulate investments only in debt instruments with rating not below investment grade by accredited/registered credit rating agency.
- Taxation Risk:
In addition to the disclosure related to taxation mentioned under section "Special Consideration" in the SID, Investment in Foreign Securities poses additional challenges based on the tax laws of each respective country or jurisdiction. The scheme may be subject to a higher level of taxes than originally anticipated and or dual taxation.
The Scheme may be subject to withholding or other taxes on income and/or gains arising from its investment portfolio. Further, such investments are exposed to risks associated with the changing / evolving tax / regulatory regimes of all the countries where the Scheme invests. All these may entail a higher outgo to the Scheme by way of taxes, transaction costs, fees etc. thus adversely impacting its NAV; resulting in lower returns to an Investor.
- Legal and Regulatory Risk:
Legal and regulatory changes could occur during the term of the Scheme which may adversely affect it. If any of the laws and regulations currently in effect should change or any new laws or regulations should be enacted, the legal requirements to which the Scheme and the investors may be subject could differ materially from current requirements and may materially and adversely affect the Scheme and the investors. Legislation/ Regulatory guidelines could also be imposed retrospectively.
- Country Risk:
The Country risk arises from the inability of a country, to meet its financial obligations. It is the risk encompassing economic, social and political conditions in a foreign country, which might adversely affect foreign investors' financial interests. In addition, country risks would include events such as introduction of extraordinary exchange controls, economic deterioration, bi-lateral conflict leading to immobilisation of the overseas financial assets and the prevalent tax laws of the respective jurisdiction for execution of trades or otherwise.
- To manage risks associated with foreign currency and interest rate exposure, the Mutual Fund may use derivatives for efficient portfolio management including hedging and in accordance with conditions as may be stipulated by SEBI/ RBI from time to time.

- Exhaustion of Limit for investments in Overseas Securities: In case the permissible limits for investments in overseas Securities by the Scheme, provided by regulatory bodies is reached, then the scheme may not be able to make any further investments in permissible Overseas Securities. This could lead to loss of investment opportunity. CCIL shall maintain two separate Default Funds in respect of its Securities Segment, one with a view to meet losses arising out of any default by its members from outright and repo trades and the other for meeting losses arising out of any default by its members from Triparty Repo trades. The mutual fund is exposed to the extent of its contribution to the default fund of CCIL, in the event that the contribution of the mutual fund is called upon to absorb settlement/default losses of another member by CCIL, as a result the scheme may lose an amount equivalent to its contribution to the default fund.

Risk factors associated with investing in Derivatives (For all equity, hybrid and index schemes)

- The AMC, on behalf of the Scheme(s) may use various derivative products, from time to time, in an attempt to protect the value of the portfolio and enhance Unit holders' interest. Derivative products are specialized instruments that require investment techniques and risk analysis different from those associated with stocks and bonds. The use of a derivative requires an understanding not only of the underlying instrument but of the derivative itself. Other risks include, the risk of mispricing or improper valuation and the inability of derivatives to correlate perfectly with underlying assets, rates and indices.
- Derivative products are leveraged instruments and can provide disproportionate gains as well as disproportionate losses to the investor. Execution of such strategies depends upon the ability of the fund manager to identify such opportunities. Identification and execution of the strategies to be pursued by the fund manager involve uncertainty and decision of fund manager may not always be profitable. No assurance can be given that the fund manager will be able to identify or execute such strategies.
- The risks associated with the use of derivatives are different from or possibly greater than, the risks associated with investing directly in securities and other traditional investments.
- Credit Risk: The credit risk in derivative transaction is the risk that the counter party will default on its obligations and is generally low, as there is no exchange of principal amounts in a derivative transaction.
- Market Risk: Market movements may adversely affect the pricing and settlement of derivatives.
- Illiquidity risk: This is the risk that a derivative cannot be sold or purchased quickly enough at a fair price, due to lack of liquidity in the market

Additional Risk viz. Basis Risk associated with imperfect hedging using Interest Rate Futures (IRF):

- The imperfect correlation between the prices of securities in the portfolio and the IRF contract used to hedge part of the portfolio leads to basis risk. Thus, the loss on the portfolio may not exactly match the gain from the hedge position entered using the IRF.

Risk pertaining to covered call strategy (For HDFC Dividend Yield Fund, HDFC Flexi Cap Fund, HDFC Housing Opportunities Fund, HDFC MNC Fund, HDFC Business Cycle Fund, HDFC Non-Cyclical Fund, HDFC Defence Fund, HDFC Transportation and Logistics Fund, HDFC Technology Fund, HDFC Pharma and Healthcare Fund, HDFC Manufacturing Fund)

- Incorrectly pricing the option premium before writing the covered call by ignoring factors which determine pricing like number of days to expiry, adjustment with respect to announced corporate actions like dividend etc.

Risk Factors associated with REITs and InvITs (For all equity and hybrid schemes)

- Price Risk:
Securities / Instruments of REITs and InvITs are volatile and prone to price fluctuations on a daily basis owing to market movements. The extent of fall or rise in the prices is a fluctuation in general market conditions, factors and forces affecting capital market, Real Estate and Infrastructure sectors, level of interest rates, trading volumes, settlement periods and transfer procedures.
- Interest Rate Risk:
Securities / Instruments of REITs and InvITs run interest rate risk. Generally, when interest rates rise, prices of units fall and when interest rates drop, such prices increase.
- Credit Risk:
Credit risk means that the issuer of a REIT / InvIT security / instrument may default on interest payment or even on paying back the principal amount on maturity. Securities / Instruments of REITs and InvITs are likely to have volatile cash flows as the repayment dates would not necessarily be pre scheduled.
- Liquidity Risk:
This refers to the ease with which securities / instruments of REITs / InvITs can be sold. There is no assurance that an active secondary market will develop or be maintained. Hence there would be time when trading in the units could be infrequent. The subsequent valuation of illiquid units may reflect a discount from the market price of comparable securities / instruments for which a liquid market exists. As these products are new to the market they are likely to be exposed to liquidity risk.
- Reinvestment Risk:
Investments in securities / instruments of REITs and InvITs may carry reinvestment risk as there could be repatriation of funds by the Trusts in form of buyback of units or dividend pay-outs, etc. Consequently, the proceeds may get invested in assets providing lower returns.
- Legal and Regulatory Risk:
The regulatory framework governing investments in securities / instruments of REITs and InvITs comprises a relatively new set of regulations and is therefore untested, interpretation and enforcement by regulators and courts involves uncertainties. Presently, it is difficult to forecast as to how any new laws, regulations or standards or future amendments will affect the issuers of REITs / InvITs and the sector as a whole. Furthermore, no assurance can be given that the regulatory system will not change in a way that will impair the ability of the Issuers to comply with the regulations, conduct the business, compete effectively or make distributions.

Information common to Schemes (as applicable) (Contd.)

Risk factors associated with investing in Securitised Debt (For all equity, hybrid schemes and HDFC Income Plus Arbitrage Active FOF)

The Risks involved in Securitised Papers described below are the principal ones and does not represent that the statement of risks set out hereunder is exhaustive.

• Limited Liquidity & Price Risk

There is no assurance that a deep secondary market will develop for the Certificates. This could limit the ability of the investor to resell them.

• Limited Recourse, Delinquency and Credit Risk

The Credit Enhancement stipulated represents a limited loss cover to the Investors. These Certificates represent an undivided beneficial interest in the underlying receivables and do not represent an obligation of either the Issuer or the Seller or the originator, or the parent or any affiliate of the Seller, Issuer and Originator. No financial recourse is available to the Certificate Holders against the Investors' Representative. Delinquencies and credit losses may cause depletion of the amount available under the Credit Enhancement and thereby the Investor Payouts to the Certificate Holders may get affected if the amount available in the Credit Enhancement facility is not enough to cover the shortfall. On persistent default of an Obligor to repay his obligation, the Servicer may repossess and sell the Asset. However many factors may affect, delay or prevent the repossession of such Asset or the length of time required to realise the sale proceeds on such sales. In addition, the price at which such Asset may be sold may be lower than the amount due from that Obligor.

• Risks due to possible prepayments and Charge Offs

In the event of prepayments, investors may be exposed to changes in tenor and yield. Also, any Charge Offs would result in the reduction in the tenor of the Pass Through Certificates (PTCs).

• Bankruptcy of Bank with Liquidity facility

If the Bank with Liquidity facility, becomes subject to bankruptcy proceedings then an investor could experience losses or delays in the payments.

• Risk of Co-mingling

With respect to the Certificates, the Servicer will deposit all payments received from the Obligors into the Collection Account. However, there could be a time gap between collection by a Servicer and depositing the same into the Collection account especially considering that some of the collections may be in the form of cash. In this interim period, collections from the Loan Agreements may not be segregated from other funds of originator. If originator in its capacity as Servicer fails to remit such funds due to Investors, the Investors may be exposed to a potential loss.

Risk factors associated with Securities Lending (For all equity, hybrid and index schemes)

As with other modes of extensions of credit, there are risks inherent to securities lending, including the risk of failure of the other party, in this case the approved intermediary, to comply with the terms of the agreement entered into between the lender of securities i.e. the Scheme and the approved intermediary. Such failure can result in the possible loss of rights to the collateral put up by the borrower of the securities, the inability of the approved intermediary to return the securities deposited by the lender and the possible loss of any corporate benefits accruing to the lender from the securities deposited with the approved intermediary. The scheme may not be able to sell lent out securities, which can lead to temporary illiquidity & loss of opportunity.

Risk factors associated with investments in Perpetual Debt Instrument (PDI) (For all equity and hybrid schemes)

Perpetual Debt instruments are issued by Banks, NBFCs and corporates to improve their capital profile. Some of the PDIs issued by Banks which are governed by the RBI guidelines for Basel III Capital Regulations are referred to as Additional Tier I (AT1 bonds). While there are no regulatory guidelines for issuance of PDIs by corporate bodies, NBFCs issue these bonds as per guidelines issued by RBI. The instruments are treated as perpetual in nature as there is no fixed maturity date. The key risks associated with these instruments are highlighted below:

- Risk on coupon servicing

Banks

As per the terms of the instruments, Banks may have discretion at all times to cancel distributions/ payment of coupons. In the event of non-availability of adequate distributable reserves and surpluses or inadequacy in terms of capital requirements, RBI may not allow banks to make payment of coupons.

NBFCs

While NBFCs may have discretion at all times to cancel payment of coupon, coupon can also be deferred (instead of being cancelled), in case paying the coupon leads to breach of capital ratios.

Corporates

Corporates usually have discretion to defer the payment of coupon. However, the coupon is usually cumulative and any deferred coupon shall accrue interest at the original coupon rate of the PDI.

- Risk of write-down or conversion into equity

Banks

As per the regulatory requirements, Banks have to maintain a minimum Common Equity Tier-1 (CET-1) ratio of Risk Weighted Assets (RWAs), failing which the AT-1 bonds can get written down. Further, AT-1 Bonds are liable to be written down or converted to common equity, at the discretion of RBI, in the event of Point of Non Viability Trigger (PONV). PONV is a point, determined by RBI, when a bank is deemed to have become non-viable unless there is a write off/ conversion to equity of AT-1 Bonds or a public sector capital injection happens. The write off/conversion has to occur prior to public sector injection of capital. This risk is not applicable in case of NBFCs and Corporates.

- Risk of instrument not being called by the Issuer

Banks

The issuing banks have an option to call back the instrument after minimum specified period from the date of issuance and thereafter, subject to meeting the RBI guidelines. However, if the bank does not exercise the call on first call date, the Scheme may have to hold the instruments for a period beyond the first call exercise date.

NBFCs

The NBFC issuer has an option to call back the instrument after minimum specific period as per the regulatory requirement from date of issuance and thereafter, subject to meeting the RBI guidelines. However, if the NBFC does not exercise the call option the Scheme may have to hold the instruments for a period beyond the first call exercise date.

Corporates

There is no minimum period for call date. However, if the corporate does not exercise the call option, the Scheme may have to hold the instruments for a period beyond the call exercise date.

Risk factors associated with Short Selling (For all equity, hybrid schemes and HDFC Nifty 50 Index Fund, HDFC BSE Sensex Index Fund, HDFC Income Plus Arbitrage Active FOF)

Short-selling is the sale of shares which are not owned by the seller at the time of trade. Instead, he borrows it from someone who already owns it. Later, the short seller buys back the stock he shorted and returns the stock to close out the loan. If the price of the stock corrects, Short seller can buy the stock back for less than he received for selling it and earn profit (the difference between higher short sale price and the lower purchase price). If the price of stock appreciates, short selling results in loss. Thus, Short positions carry the risk of losing money and these losses may grow theoretically unlimited if the price increases without limit and shall result into major losses in the portfolio.

Risk factors associated for investments in Mutual Fund Schemes

1. Movements in the Net Asset Value (NAV) of these Schemes may impact the performance. Any change in the investment policies or fundamental attributes of these Schemes will affect the performance of the Scheme to the extent of investment in such schemes.
2. Redemptions by in these Schemes would be subject to applicable exit loads.

- In case of 'switch' transactions from one scheme to another, the allocation shall be in line with redemption payouts.

In case of switches, the request should be received on a day which is a Business Day for the Switch-out scheme. Redemption for switch-out shall be processed at the applicable NAV as per cut-off timing. Switch-in will be processed at the Applicable NAV (on a Business Day) based on realization of funds as per the redemption pay-out cycle for the switch-out scheme.

For investments through systematic investment routes such as Systematic Investment Plans (SIP), Flex SIP, Systematic Transfer Plans (STP), Flex-STP, Swing STP, Transfer of Income Distribution cum Capital Withdrawal (IDCW) Plan facility (TIP), etc. the units will be allotted as per the closing NAV of the day on which the funds are available for utilization within applicable cut-off time by the Target Scheme irrespective of the installment date of the SIP, STP or record date of IDCW etc.

While the AMC will endeavour to deposit the payment instruments accompanying investment application submitted to it with its bank expeditiously, it shall not be liable for delay in realization of funds on account of factors beyond its control such as clearing / settlement cycles of the banks.

Since different payment modes have different settlement cycles including electronic transactions (as per arrangements with Payment Aggregators / Banks / Exchanges etc), it may happen that the investor's account is debited, but the money is not credited within cut-off time on the same date to the Scheme's bank account, leading to a gap / delay in Unit allotment. Investors are therefore urged to use the most efficient electronic payment modes to avoid delays in realization of funds and consequently in Unit allotment.

C] For Redemption (including switch-out) applications

- In respect of valid applications received upto 3 p.m. on a Business Day by the Fund, same day's closing NAV shall be applicable.
- In respect of valid applications received after 3 p.m. on a Business Day by the Fund, the closing NAV of the next Business Day shall be applicable

Transactions through online facilities / electronic modes:

The time of transaction done through various online facilities / electronic modes offered by the AMC, for the purpose of determining the applicability of NAV, would be the time when the request for purchase / sale / switch of units is received in the servers of AMC/RTA.

3) IDCW Policy (All schemes except HDFC Index Fund and HDFC Gold ETF Fund of Fund)

It is proposed to declare IDCW subject to availability of distributable surplus, as computed in accordance with SEBI (Mutual Funds) Regulations, 1996.

IDCW, if declared, will be paid (subject of deduction of tax at source, if any) to those Unitholders / Beneficial Owners whose names appear in the Register of Unit holders maintained by the Mutual Fund/ statement of beneficial ownership maintained by the Depositories, as applicable, under the IDCW option as on the Record Date. The IDCW payment shall be transferred to the Unitholders within 7 working days of the record date of such declaration of IDCW or such other timeline as may be specified by SEBI from time to time. In the event of failure to transfer IDCW within the stipulated period, the AMC shall be liable to pay interest @ 15% per annum to the Unitholders for the delay in payment as computed from the Record Date or from such other date or for such period as may be advised by SEBI from time to time. The Trustee/ AMC reserves the right to change the record date from time to time. However, it must be distinctly understood that the actual declaration of IDCW and the frequency thereof will inter alia, depend on the availability of distributable surplus as computed in accordance with SEBI (Mutual Funds) Regulations, 1996. The decision of the Trustee in this regard shall be final.

There is no assurance or guarantee to unit holders as to the rate of IDCW distribution nor that IDCW will be paid regularly. On payment of IDCW, the NAV will stand reduced by the amount of IDCW and IDCW tax (if applicable) paid.

4) Load Structure

- No exit load shall be levied for switching between Options under the same Plan within a Scheme.
- Switch of investments to Direct Plan within the same Scheme shall be subject to applicable exit load, unless the investment was made directly i.e. without any distributor code. However, any subsequent switch-out or redemption of such investments from the Direct Plan will not be subject to any exit load.
- No exit load shall be levied for switch-out from Direct Plan to the non-Direct Plan within the same Scheme. However, any subsequent switch-out or redemption of such investment from the non-Direct Plan shall be subject to exit load based on the original date of investment in the Direct Plan.
- No exit load will be levied on Units allotted on Re-investment of Income Distribution cum Capital Withdrawal.
- No exit load will be levied on Units allotted in the Target Scheme under the Transfer of Income Distribution cum Capital Withdrawal (IDCW) Plan Facility (TIP Facility).
- If units are kept as collateral with a broker/ lender and there is actual movement of units from the Unitholders demat account to the broker/lenders demat account as a result this will be treated as a normal off market transfer of units. The period for reckoning the exit load on such units will be reckoned based on the date of allotment/ purchase carried by the specific lot transferred from the brokers/lenders demat account on FIFO basis to the Unitholders demat account till the date of redemption by the Unitholder.

Note: Switches/Redemptions are subject to completion of lock-in period, if any, under the Scheme(s).

In case, this section is left blank, the email id and mobile no. of the First / Sole Holder available in the KYC records shall be registered in the folio.

If the AMC / RTA finds that the email address / mobile number provided may not be of the actual investor or the same appears incorrect / doubtful, the AMC / RTA may not capture / update such email address / mobile number in the folio. In such case they will intimate the investor to provide the correct email address / mobile number through a KYC change request form or other permissible mode.

9. Mode of Payment of Redemption / IDCW Proceeds-via Direct Credit / NEFT / RTGS / etc.

• Real Time Gross Settlement (RTGS)/National Electronic Funds Transfer (NEFT)

The AMC provides the facility of 'Real Time Gross Settlement (RTGS)' and 'National Electronic Funds Transfer (NEFT)' offered by Reserve Bank of India (RBI), which aims to provide credit of redemption and Payout of IDCW (if any) directly into the bank account of the Unit holder maintained with the banks (participating in the RTGS/ NEFT System).

NEFT is electronic fund transfer modes that operate on a deferred net settlement (DNS) basis which settles transactions in batches. Contrary to this, in RTGS, transactions are processed continuously throughout the RTGS business hours. The minimum amount to be remitted through RTGS is Rs. 2 lakhs. There is no upper ceiling for RTGS transactions. No minimum or maximum stipulation has been fixed for NEFT transactions.

Unit holders can check the list of banks participating in the RTGS / NEFT System from the RBI website i.e. www.rbi.org.in or contact any of our Investor Service Centres. However, in the event of the name of Unit holder's bank not appearing in the 'List of Banks participating in RTGS/ NEFT' updated on RBI website www.rbi.org.in, from time to time, the instructions of the Unit holder for remittance of redemption/ IDCW (if any) proceeds via RTGS / NEFT System will be discontinued by Fund / AMC without prior notice to the Unit holder and the payouts of redemption / IDCW (if any) proceeds shall be effected by sending the Unit holder(s) a cheque/ demand draft.

For more details on RTGS / NEFT or for frequently asked questions (FAQs) on RTGS / NEFT, Unit holders are advised to visit the RBI website www.rbi.org.in/Fund website www.hdfcfund.com

• Direct Credit

The AMC has entered into arrangements with eleven banks to facilitate direct credit of redemption and IDCW proceeds (if any) into the bank account of the respective Unit holders maintained with any of these banks. These banks are: Axis Bank Ltd., Citibank N.A., Deutsche Bank AG, HDFC Bank Limited, The Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, ICICI Bank Limited, IDBI Bank Limited, Kotak Mahindra Bank Ltd., Standard Chartered Bank and YES Bank Limited. The list of banks is subject to change from time to time.

In the absence of a specific request from the Unit holder exercising their choice of the mode of payment offered by the Fund from time to time, the payment of redemption / IDCW proceeds shall be effected via the RTGS / NEFT mechanism only.

Where this payment mode is not feasible / available, the payment of such proceeds will be made by DC as may be feasible.

Unit holders are advised to opt for the NEFT / RTGS, as it helps in avoiding loss of IDCW/ redemption warrant in transit or fraudulent encashment. Please update your IFSC Code in order to get payouts via electronic mode in to your bank account.

The AMC / Fund shall not be held liable for any losses/ claims, etc. arising on account of processing the direct credit or credit via RTGS/NEFT of redemption / IDCW proceeds on the basis of Bank Account details as provided by the Unit holder in the Application Form.

In case of unforeseen circumstances, the AMC/Fund reserves the right to issue a demand draft/ remit monies through electronic modes, if relevant details are available in investor's folio / KYC records.

Any charges levied by the investor's bank for receiving payment through electronic mode will be borne by the investor. The Mutual Fund / AMC will not accept any request for refund of such bank charges.

AMC reserves the rights to change the payout mode from cheque/ demand draft to electronic credit OR vice versa in case such a situation arises requiring the need for this conversion in payout mode to ensure faster payment.

Terms and Conditions and Instructions

For detailed terms and conditions on SIP, including for OTM facility, please visit our website www.hdfcfund.com and also refer to scheme related documents.

- Where a onetime mandate is already registered in a folio for a bank account, the Unit Holder(s) will have to fill only the SIP Registration Form and there is no need of a separate cheque to be given along with the SIP Registration Form.
  - The total of all installments in a day should be less than or equal to the amount as mentioned in One Time Mandate already registered or submitted, if not registered.
  - Where the mandate form and the SIP registration form are submitted together, debits for the SIP may happen only on successful registration of the mandate by the Unit holder(s) bank. The Fund / AMC would present the SIP transactions without waiting for the confirmation of the successful registration from the Unit holder(s) bank.
  - In case the onetime mandate is successfully registered, new SIP registration will take upto five days. The first debit may happen any time thereafter, based on the dates opted by the Unit holder(s).
  - While the Fund and RTA reserve the right to enhance the SIP period to ensure minimum installments as per respective scheme offer documents, even if the investor has submitted the form late or requested for a period less than minimum installments, they may reject the applications for less than minimum installments.
  - If start date for SIP period is not specified, SIP will be registered to start anytime from a period after five days from the date of receipt of application based on the SIP date available / mentioned, subject to mandate being registered.
  - In case both SIP end date and no. of installments are mentioned in the SIP application for daily & weekly frequency then SIP shall get registered as per the no. of installments provided.
  - If any time during the SIP period, the onetime mandate is to be modified to reduce the validity period which is more than SIP end period registered through OTM, investor should first cancel the SIP and thereafter modify the OTM end period.
  - In case of Micro SIP application without PAN, the investor/s hereby declare that they do not have any existing Micro SIPs with HDFC Mutual Fund which together with the current application will result in aggregate investments exceeding Rs. 50,000 in a year.
  - In case the selected date falls on a Non-Business Day or on a date which is not available in a particular month, the SIP will be processed on the immediate next business day/date.
  - For SIPs through OTM, the maximum per installment amount after Top-Up shall not exceed Rs. 5 lakhs or the maximum amount mentioned in OTM form, whichever is less.
  - The Top-up details cannot be modified once enrolled. In order to make any changes, the investor needs to cancel the existing SIP and enroll for a fresh SIP with Top-up option.
  - HDFC Mutual Fund or the AMC, its registrars and other service providers are not responsible if the registration and subsequent transaction are delayed or not effected or the investor's bank account is debited in advance or after the specific SIP date due to local holidays or any other reason.
  - Investors are deemed to have read and understood the terms and conditions of OTM Facility and SIP facility in the Scheme Information Document, Statement of Additional Information, Key Information Memorandum, Instructions and Addenda issued from time to time of the respective Scheme(s) of HDFC Mutual Fund.
- The Enrolment Form should be submitted atleast 21 days before the first date ^ for NACH/ Direct Clearing/ Direct Debit/ Standing Instruction.
If the start period is not mentioned, the chosen/Default date falling 15 days from submission date will be considered as the start date and will be registered from that date (eg. If the application is submitted on June 1 without indicating the start period then the SIP start date would be July 1).
In cases where D-SIP/W-SIP application is accompanied with fresh OTM mandates, the start date/day for D-SIP/W-SIP shall be 10 days after receipt of confirmation for registration of OTM from destination banks. Investors enrolling for D-SIP/W-SIP should select “As & when presented” as payment frequency in the OTM.
In case the D-SIP/W-SIP instalment is not debited on a particular day on account of system constraints, technical/operational issues/actions of other parties or any other circumstances beyond the control of HDFC AMC/Fund, such missed debits will not be re-initiated.
^ In case the auto debit start date/day as mentioned in the form does not satisfy this condition, the first date/day shall be rolled over to begin from the immediately following month (provided the roll over date/day does not exceed the maximum time gap of 90 days between the SIP submission date and first installment of SIP through NACH/Direct Clearing or Direct Debit/ Standing Instruction) and the end date/day shall accordingly get extended.
  - In case of auto cancellation, the below given uniform timeline for treating an SIP as closed / cancelled shall be adopted by all AMCs:

| S No. | SIP Interval                                  | No. of failed debit attempts prior to cancellation of SIP |
|-------|-----------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| 1.    | Daily                                         | 3                                                         |
| 2.    | Weekly, Fortnightly                           | 3                                                         |
| 3.    | Monthly                                       | 3                                                         |
| 4.    | Bi-monthly, Quarterly or Longer interval SIPs | 2                                                         |

The AMC will send a communication to investor after 1st failed debit attempt, mentioning that the SIP will cease in case of 3 consecutive rejections and another communication after cancellation of SIP intimating the cancellation to the investor.

- SIP cancellation request will be processed within 2 working days from the submission of such request by the investor. However, it may be noted that any instalments for which debit instructions have already been sent to the investor's bank (for eg. 7 to 10 days in advance depending upon the mode of registration of the mandate) may continue to be processed. Investors should accordingly maintain sufficient balance in their bank account.

HDFC Flex Systematic Investment Plan ("Flex SIP"), a facility whereby investors can invest at predetermined intervals in the eligible schemes of the Fund, higher amount(s) determined by a formula linked to value of investments, to take advantage of market movements

- A. Flex SIP facility is currently available under growth option of open ended equity schemes and open ended hybrid schemes of the Fund (eligible schemes). The eligible schemes for Flex SIP investments are subject to change from time to time. Investors are requested to email us at hello@hdfcfund.com or visit our website www.hdfcfund.com or contact nearest Investor Service Centre (ISC) of the Fund for the updated list of eligible schemes.
- B.
- a. The first Flex SIP installment will be processed for the fixed amount specified by the Unitholder in the enrolment form. The installment amount mentioned shall not exceed Rs. 1 Lakh. From the second installment onwards, the investment amount shall be computed as per the formula stated below:
  - b. For installments under Flex SIP, the amount to be invested in the Scheme as on the date of SIP shall be higher of:
    - o Fixed amount to be invested per installment; or
    - o The amount determined by the formula: (fixed amount to be invested per installment X number of installments including the current installment) – market value of the investments through Flex SIP 2 business days prior to the SIP date.
  - c. At any given point in time, the subsequent Flex SIP installment amount determined by the above formula shall be capped at 2 times the first Flex SIP installment amount or Rs.1,99,999/- whichever is lower.

The installment amount shall be rounded off to nearest multiple of Re. 1/-.
  - d. The total amount invested during the tenure of the Flex SIP shall not exceed the total enrolment amount i.e. fixed amount per installment X total number of installments under the Flex SIP registration. Thus, the last installment will be adjusted accordingly.

Calculation of Flex SIP installment amount for instance on the date of the fourth installment i.e. April 15, 2018 (T):

- Total units allotted upto the date of previous installment i.e. March 15, 2018 is assumed as 685.50;
- The NAV of the Scheme on April 13, 2018 (T-2) is assumed as Rs. 18/- per unit;
- Hence the market value of the investment in the Scheme on April 13, 2018 is Rs. 12,339 [685.50 X 18].

The installment amount will be calculated as follows:

|                                                 |    |                                                         |
|-------------------------------------------------|----|---------------------------------------------------------|
| Fixed amount specified at the time of enrolment | :  | Rs. 5,000/-                                             |
|                                                 | or |                                                         |
| As determined by the formula                    | :  | $[(5,000 \times 4) - 12,339.00] = \text{Rs. } 7,661.00$ |
| whichever is higher                             |    |                                                         |

Hence, the installment amount on April 15, 2018 will be Rs. 7,661.00

Illustration 2: How would maximum Flex SIP installment be calculated?

Calculation of Flex SIP installment amount for instance on the date of the seventh installment i.e. July 15, 2018 (T):

- Total units allotted upto the date of previous instalment i.e. June 15, 2018 is assumed as 1,558.675;
- NAV of the Scheme on July 13, 2018 (T-2) is assumed as Rs. 14/- per unit;
- Hence the market value of the investment as on July 13, 2018 is Rs. 21.821 [1558.675 X 14].

The installment amount will be calculated as follows:

|                                                                        |    |                                                             |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|-------------------------------------------------------------|
| Fixed amount specified at the time of enrolment                        | :  | Rs. 5,000/-                                                 |
|                                                                        | or |                                                             |
| As determined by the formula                                           | :  | $\frac{[(5,000 \times 7) - 21,821.00]}{2}$Rs. 13,179.00 |
| whichever is higher; subject to 2 times the initial installment amount |    |                                                             |

Hence, the installment amount on July 15, 2018 amount will be Rs. 10,000/-

Thus this Flex SIP facility helps to buy more units when the NAVs are lower. HDFC Flex SIP in any manner whatsoever is not an assurance or promise or guarantee on part of HDFC Mutual Fund/ HDFC Asset Management Company Limited to the Unit holders in terms of returns or capital appreciation or minimization of loss of capital or otherwise.

Illustration 3: How would the total enrolment amount under Flex SIP be calculated?
